GAINESVILLE, Tex. AP -- Water from slashing thunderstorms roaming North Texas flooded 100 homes in Gainesville today. Public schools closed.

Winds of possibly 100 miles per hour caused widespread damage at Fort Worth.

The storms dumped 5.50 inches of rain on Gainesville, about 65 miles north of Fort Worth.

Clouds were so dense late in the morning that it appeared like night in parts of North Texas.

The wind severed power lines in many sections of Fort Worth, blanketing out some traffic lights and jamming rush-hour traffic.

JEFFERSON CITY -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes approved today Tennessee's request to extradite Joel A. Montgomery of Sikeston, Mo., to face manslaughter charges in Memphis.

His action followed a special commission's recommendation that he send Montgomery back to face trial.

Montgomery's car, driven by a woman friend, was involved in a crash Oct. 14, 1959, that resulted in the death of Mrs. Glenda Wiles, a passenger in the other car.

Mrs. Betty Lou Seils, the driver of Montgomery's car, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter but the decision was later reversed by the Tennessee Supreme Court.

Montgomery was not indicted until Feb. 27, 1962 and by that time he had moved back to his hometown, Sikeston, where he is a civic leader.

Former Gov. John M. Dalton refused to extradite Montgomery. When Tennessee renewed its appeal, Gov. Hearnes appointed a special commission to hear evidence and make recommendations.

The commissioners were John David Collins of Macon, Orville W. Richardson of St. Louis and Robert L. Howard of Columbia.

They concluded Montgomery was properly charged of a crime and was, technically, a fugitive.

The commissioners said they could "see no escape from the conclusion that legally the asylum state governor has no discretion once statutory requirements are fulfilled by the demanding state. These requirements have been met here."

"But even if a discretion might be deemed to exist, we can find no basis in this case upon which to recommend to the governor that such discretion be exercised in favor of the accused."

The governor also had declined before the commission report to extradite Montgomery because of what he described as "political implications."

Montgomery worked against Governor Hearnes' election. The governor explained that "I don't want to be in a position where people will say that I'm taking vengeance" for Montgomery's work in Missouri's Democratic primary election in behalf of Lt. Gov. Hilary Bush, who was defeated by Hearnes.

The commission pointed out that Missouri has adopted the uniform criminal extradition act, which makes it a "duty" for the governor to have arrested and delivered up to state "any person charged in that state with treason, felony or other crime, who has fled from justice and is found in this state."

The commission ruled that Montgomery was a fugitive from justice within the meaning of the extradition statutes.

"There seems no doubt but that . . . he is charged with a substantial crime," the report stated.

Lawyers for Montgomery at a hearing contended that he was not a fugitive, was at no time guilty of flight, didn't move from Tennessee to avoid prosecution, had at no time committed an act which intentionally resulted in a crime, that he had been available in Tennessee for arrest of service of process and that he was not charged with a substantial crime.

Montgomery was described by his attorneys as "a valued and useful citizen of the City of Sikeston and the State of Missouri."

The attorneys also contended that because of publicity the rights of anyone associated with the offense would deny him "a fair and just trial" in Tennessee.

They also contended that action taken by Gov. John M. Dalton acted as a bar to Montgomery's removal. Dalton declined to honor the extradition request.

The attorneys for Montgomery insisted that the two-year statute of limitations had expired before the indictment was issued.

Mrs. Betty Lou Seils, driver of the car in which Montgomery was riding in the fatal accident, was indicted Oct. 30, 1959. She was tried and convicted in March of 1960. The conviction was appealed and affirmed by a higher court in September of 1961.

A petition to rehear the case was subsequently granted and the case was reversed and remanded for new trial on Dec. 8, 1961.

The indictment against Montgomery was returned in January of 1962 but was corrected and reissued by the grand jury on Feb. 27, 1962.

The report quoted extensively from an elaboration of the facts presented by Charles G. Black, Memphis, Tenn., attorney for Montgomery at the hearing.

"According to Mr. Black's statement . . . on the afternoon of October 13, 1959, Mr. Joel A. Montgomery, in company with two young ladies of Memphis, Tennessee, was in one of the clubs of the uptown district where they had several drinks of whiskey, after which they proceeded to the Peabody Hotel, on the roof garden, or skyway, where they had dinner, and they had maybe several other drinks of whiskey over the period of time they were together; maybe several drinks of whiskey."

"At about twelve-thirty, that early part of the morning, the two young ladies and Mr. Montgomery left the Peabody Hotel and proceeded to the National Garage where Mr. Montgomery's car was housed. . .

Jets Stepup Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP -- U. S. jet fighter-bombers stepped up their attacks in North and South Viet Nam today while the Viet Cong still sidestepped the big Allied ground forces trying to hunt them down.

While the ground war tapered off significantly, the U. S. Military Command announced that the number of Americans killed in combat last week rose by more than 50 per cent. A spokesman said 89 Americans were killed, 499 wounded and eight missing in action compared with 57 Americans killed, 281 wounded and 11 missing in the previous seven days.

In separate sweeps, American and Australian troops stumbled onto Viet Cong caches of rice totaling 335 tons -- enough to feed thousands of men for weeks -- and stores of howitzer ammunition.

U. S. Marines located about 50 well-armed Viet Cong in huts on the outskirts of the helicopter base for their 12-day-old Operation Double Eagle, about 20 miles south of Quang Ngai City. The Marines, planes and artillery killed 27. The only Marine casualty was one man wounded.

In Vientiane, capital of neighboring Laos, a spokesman for the Laotian Defense Ministry reported North Vietnamese tanks had been seen for the first time on the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos, en route to South Viet Nam. Qualified military sources in Saigon, however, were skeptical of the report. They said tanks might be more of a liability than an asset to the Viet Cong.

The Strategic Air Command's eight-engine B52s from Guam joined the air offensive in the past 24 hours, pounding Viet Cong concentrations in Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border and in Phu Yen Province on the central plains, U.S. spokesmen said.

Accused of Three Driving Offenses

Richard Forby, Charleston, was charged with three offenses yesterday by police.

They charge that he was driving while intoxicated, had an improper exhaust on his vehicle and improper brakes.

Richard Funk, Ozark, Ill., was charged with driving with no operator's license.

Napoleon Mitchell, 330 Magnolia, was charged with running a stop sign and driving with no operator's license.

Markin Manley, Vanduser, was charged with public intoxication.

Floyd Ripley, 301 Benton, was charged with public intoxication.

Humphrey Is On His Way To Saigon

HONOLULU AP -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Saigon today to press for vigorous action on President Johnson's demands for political, economic and social progress for warring South Viet Nam.

After a hurried airport conference with the President in Los Angeles Tuesday night Humphrey flew to Honolulu for a six-hour stopover before continuing on across the Pacific.

Flying from Honolulu with Humphrey were South Viet Nam's current top leaders, who gave abundant evidence Tuesday that they want a tougher war against Communist North Viet Nam along with the programs to better the life of the peasants.

The vice president is on a 10- or 12-day mission that also will take him to about five other Asian nations. Officials here said they did not know Humphrey's next stop after South Viet Nam.

Sources in Washington said Humphrey's tour would include the capitals of Thailand, Malaysia, Australia and India. Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said the vice president also would go to Auckland.

More Military Funds Asked

WASHINGTON AP -- The Senate Armed Services Committee takes up today an emergency military fund request for the Viet Nam war while Senate critics signal continued attacks on President Johnson's Southeast Asia policies.

The committee was expected to approve a measure which would authorize $4.8 billion in defense costs. This would open the way to later action on the full $12.8-billion money package of military and economic aid Johnson asked.

In advance of this action, Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., spokesman for a group of 16 senators who opposed resumption of North Viet Nam bombing, predicted nearly unanimous Senate approval of the measure.

"Nobody is going to vote against providing all of the equipment and firepower our men in Viet Nam need," he said in an interview. "But that doesn't mean that we won't continue to criticize the policies that have put them in Viet Nam and which threaten to expand the war."

Changes Name

LOS ANGELES AP -- Actor Vince Edwards, known to millions on television as Dr. Ben Casey, has legally changed his name from Vincent Zolno to Vincent Edwards.

More Money Needed

WASHINGTON AP -- More money is needed for the government's antipoverty program, says a congressional report.

HOUSTON, Tex. AP -- At an age when most men are looking forward to retirement, Will Clayton resigned as head of the world's largest cotton business and went into government service.

William Lockhart Clayton was a multimillionaire and known as "King Cotton Himself," when he joined the New Deal in 1940 at the age of 60.

In 1944 he became assistant secretary of state for economic affairs. He developed the concept of the Marshall Plan for European recovery after World War II and administered the program.

Clayton, who proved himself adept in the fields of economics, politics and national affairs, as well as cotton, died in a Houston hospital Tuesday after suffering a heart attack at his home. He was 86.

Only last Thursday he returned to Houston from a four-day trip to New York for meetings with the Atlantic Council, and to Washington, where he met with members of the U.S. Citizens' Commission on NATO, of which he was one of the original chairmen.

Johnson Returns To Desk

WASHINGTON AP -- President Johnson returned today from the Honolulu conference confident "we shall prevail" in the battle against aggression in Viet Nam. He says he will meet again with South Vietnamese leaders "within the next few months."

Declaring he felt "refreshed and confident" from his talks with top Vietnamese officials, Johnson said in a statement during a Los Angeles stopover Tuesday night that they know social and political progress "cannot wait until the guns grow silent and terrorism stops."

During his 105-minute Los Angeles stop, Johnson conferred with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, then wished him Godspeed on a mission to Saigon to spur the political, economic and social programs outlined at Honolulu.

Johnson then headed back to Washington in the presidential jet which had carried him to Hawaii last Saturday. Within two minutes of the President's takeoff, Humphrey was off across the Pacific on his way to Honolulu to join the South Vietnamese leaders for the trip to Saigon.

Earlier Tuesday, Johnson and the Vietnamese chiefs ended three days of what they called "the most intense and friendly discussion" in a "Declaration of Honolulu," they vowed to fight aggression, meet the hopes of the people of South Viet Nam and press the search for lasting peace.

Band Teacher Hurt in Crash

BENTON -- James Carman of Malden, band teacher at the Kelly high school, was injured in a one car accident this morning at 8 a.m. three miles east of here.

Jack Stuart, deputy sheriff of Scott County, said according to witnesses, the accident happened as Carman, driving a 1965 Falcon, was attempting to pass another car on wet pavement.

The car skidded into a utility pole.

Carman was taken for treatment to Dr. Bill Seabough's office in Cape Girardeau.

After the crash, the pole caught fire. The fire was extinguished before the pole was destroyed.

Nugents Will Call At White House

WASHINGTON AP -- Lucie Johnson's future parents-in-law have accepted an invitation from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to be guests at the White House this weekend.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., arrive at the White House it will be their first meeting with President and Mrs. Johnson although they have talked on the telephone several times since Lucie and Patrick J. Nugent became engaged Christmas Eve.

High Meat Prices Cause No Concern

BENTON -- E. M. "Smokey" Woods, East St. Louis, Ill., president of the National Livestock Producers, told the annual Scott County Farm Bureau banquet audience not to bother about high cost of meat with 27 and 28 cent pork, as long as the national income remains high.

The banquet was held in St. Denis school basement last night with George Eftink, presiding. Farm Bureau president George Harper, gave the address of welcome to 80.

Woods said that Americans are spending the same per cent of their income for food today that they did 40 years ago.

"The cost of pork will remain high for another 12 months, but should become lower after that by around 40 per cent," he said. "Beef will continue upward for a little more than three years, due to the shortage of breeding stock."

He reminded bankers that beef loans would be the best "paper" they can have for the next three to five years.

Woods added that "the soybean outlook is good for some time. Watch for adjustments wherever needed so that we don't get into trouble like we are in cotton."

Earl Peterson, East St. Louis, of the Livestock Producers Association gave a review of the markets. "The market depends on the wants of the buyer. Take the case of bidding when there are as many as four bidders and it goes to the top because they do not know the other man's bid."

"The cattle market today was $27.50, top hogs brought $28.75 and roosters five and one-half cents."

"In the cattle market I would take all kinds of cattle and grade them into 39 different classes according to the wants of the buyers, and it is then when the buyers bid."

George Sudolt, Columbia fieldman for the Missouri Farm Bureau, told of the growth of the organization in the past 52 years. The Bureau has added many members other than farmers, he said.

Raymond Galemore, with the Scott County Farm Bureau insurance program, stated that life insurance in force totaled $80 million, and also 76,000 persons held casualty policies. Bill Hale was introduced.

Kupferman Thanks Voters In John Lindsay Manner

NEW YORK AP -- In the manner of the man he succeeds in Congress, Liberal Republican Theodore R. Kupferman went on the streets today to thank the voters for his victory in a special election.

By less than 1,000 votes, Kupferman defeated Democrat Orin Lehman Tuesday in the election to fill the seat Republican John V. Lindsay gave up when he became mayor Jan. 1.

Kupferman, 45, a city councilman and attorney, shook the hands of hundreds of persons as they streamed along the streets

this morning in Manhattan's "silk stocking" 17th Congressional District.

After his victory in November, Mayor Lindsay went out onto the streets to greet the people and thank them for his election.

Kupferman also promised that, like Lindsay, he would not follow the Republican line in Congress. He said he would offer "complete independence and constructive opposition."

Storm Debris Big

Sikeston is gradually coming out of effects of the worst ice storm in many years. The storm struck the night of Jan. 31. Light and power and the telephone company crews have completed the task of repairing broken lines.

The job of removing thousands of broken tree limbs, still remains, and will continue for a week or two, according to Alvin Rhodes, custodian at the city dump.

Up to Tuesday, at least 300 loads of limbs have been hauled to the dump to be burned. This is about half of the total in the Sikeston area.

Two city trucks are hauling loads. County highway trucks are adding to a huge pile of broken limbs.

The pile now measures more than 300 feet long and 30 feet wide.

Burning of the debris awaits dry weather.

365 Employed At Shoe Factory

Charles Bethune, office manager for International Shoe Company plant here said that the factory now employs from 365 to 443, depending on orders.

He talked to the Kiwanis club last night and displayed shoes made at the plant.

The payroll was $1,584,000 last year. Each employee made an average of 17 pairs of shoes per day.

During 1965, the Sikeston factory turned out 1,451,497 pair of shoes, an average of 6,000 per working day.

International has 32 factories. In the United States, eight in Canada, two in Australia, and one in France.

The plant here was built in 1923.

A motion was carried to appoint a committee of the club to pick a candidate for Man of the Year honors as requested by the Chamber of Commerce.

Invitations were given to club members to attend the 6th council wide court of honor ceremony when a large class of Eagle scouts will be honored Feb. 20 in Cape Girardeau.

23 Trophies Bought for Tournament

Charles Walls, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Boxing Tournament Committee reported at the Jaycee meeting last night at the Country Club that he has purchased 23 trophies to be given to tournament winners.

The tournament will be held March 4 - 5.

Duke Rudd reported that a radiothon will be held March 11 from 11 a.m. to March 12, 11 a.m.

The broadcast will be from a show window of the Buckner-Ragsdale store.

Walls reported that five men from Sikeston attended a district meeting of the Missouri Junior Chamber of Commerce at Lutesville Sunday.

He said that it was voted to accept Donphan the transfer of Donphan into district 10 from district eight.

Ted Elliott reported that Jaycee vending machines have netted $6,433 this year for mental retardation funds.

It was approved that members of the Jaycees help on road blocks Feb. 19 to assist the March of Dimes campaign.

Two Injured in Fredericktown Crash

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision five miles south of Fredericktown, on highway 67, Tuesday at 9:15 a.m.

A 1955 Dodge pickup truck driven by Arthur Westmoreland, 57, Cascade, started to slow down for a car in front of him, when he skidded and ran headon into a 1960 Ford, driven by Brice Brewington, 52, Mill Creek.

Eagle Gilding Color Secret

LONDON AP -- The big golden eagle on the American Embassy is getting its biennial beauty treatment, but the embassy won't say what color it will be when the beauticians get through.

The 35-foot aluminum bird has been hidden behind scaffolding and canvas for about a week. The last time the public saw it the eagle had turned black from anticorrosion paint.

As workmen attempted to restore its original gold color, London birdwatchers feared it would end up sandy brown or retain a darkish hue.

The eagle stirred up a controversy five years ago when it was put on the new embassy in Grosvenor Square. Many Britons complained that it was too large - larger than any British lion in the vicinity.

Mercury Hits 61 Degrees

For the first time this year the temperature rose into the sixties yesterday when the official high was recorded at 61 degrees.

The last time the temperature was that high was Dec. 31, 1965 when the mercury climbed to 63.

Congress created the mint in 1792. The bureau now has jurisdiction of six field institutions.

U. S. Marines located about 50 well-armed Viet Cong in huts on the outskirts of the helicopter base for their 12-day-old Operation Double Eagle, about 20 miles south of Quang Ngai City. The Marines, planes and artillery killed 27. The only Marine casualty was one man wounded.

In Vientiane, capital of neighboring Laos, a spokesman for the Laotian Defense Ministry reported North Vietnamese tanks had been seen for the first time on the Ho Chi Minh Trail through eastern Laos, en route to South Viet Nam. Qualified military sources in Saigon, however, were skeptical of the report. They said tanks might be more of a liability than an asset to the Viet Cong.

The Strategic Air Command's eight-engine B52s from Guam joined the air offensive in the past 24 hours, pounding Viet Cong concentrations in Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border and in Phu Yen Province on the central plains, U. S. spokesmen said.

Humphrey Is On His Way To Saigon

HONOLULU AP -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Saigon today to press for vigorous action on President Johnson's demands for political, economic and social progress for warring South Viet Nam.

After a hurried airport conference with the President in Los Angeles Tuesday night Humphrey flew to Honolulu for a six-hour stopover before continuing on across the Pacific.

Flying from Honolulu with Humphrey were South Viet Nam's current top leaders, who gave abundant evidence Tuesday that they want a tougher war against Communist North Viet Nam along with the programs to better the life of the peasants.

The vice president is on a 10- or 12-day mission that also will take him to about five other Asian nations. Officials here said they did not know Humphrey's next stop after South Viet Nam.

Sources in Washington said Humphrey's tour would include the capitals of Thailand, Malaysia, Australia and India. Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said the vice president also would go to Auckland.

More Military Funds Asked

WASHINGTON AP -- The Senate Armed Services Committee takes up today an emergency military fund request for the Viet Nam war while Senate critics signal continued attacks on President Johnson's South Asia policies.

The committee was expected to approve a measure which would authorize $4.8 billion in defense costs. This would open the way to later action on the full $12.8-billion money package of military and economic aid Johnson asked.

In advance of this action, Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., spokesman for a group of 16 senators who opposed resumption of North Viet Nam bombing, predicted nearly unanimous Senate approval of the measure.

"Nobody is going to vote against providing all of the equipment and firepower our men in Viet Nam need," he said in an interview. "But that doesn't mean that we won't continue to criticize the policies that have put them in Viet Nam and which threaten to expand the war."

Changes Name

LOS ANGELES AP -- Actor Vince Edwards, known to millions on television as Dr. Ben Casey, has legally changed his name from Vincent Zolno to Vincent Edwards.

More Money Needed

WASHINGTON AP -- More money is needed for the government's antipoverty program, says a congressional report.

HOUSTON, Tex. AP -- At an age when most men are looking forward to retirement, Will Clayton resigned as head of the world's largest cotton business and went into government service.

William Lockhart Clayton was a multimillionaire and known as "King Cotton Himself," when he joined the New Deal in 1940 at the age of 60.

In 1944 he became assistant secretary of state for economic affairs. He developed the concept of the Marshall Plan for European recovery after World War II and administered the

Johnson Returns To Desk

WASHINGTON AP -- President Johnson returned today from the Honolulu conference confident "we shall prevail" in the battle against aggression in Viet Nam. He says he will meet again with South Vietnamese leaders "within the next few months."

Declaring he felt "refreshed and confident" from his talks with top Vietnamese officials, Johnson said in a statement during a Los Angeles stopover Tuesday night that they know social and political progress "cannot wait until the guns grow silent and terrorism stops."

During his 105-minute Los Angeles stop, Johnson conferred with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, then wished him Godspeed on a mission to Saigon to spur the political, economic and social programs outlined at Honolulu.

Johnson then headed back to Washington in the presidential jet which had carried him to Hawaii last Saturday. Within two minutes of the President's takeoff Humphrey was off across the Pacific on his way to Honolulu to join the South Vietnamese leaders for the trip to Saigon.

Earlier Tuesday, Johnson and the Vietnamese chiefs ended three days of what they called "the most intense and friendly discussion." In a "Declaration of Honolulu," they vowed to fight aggression, meet the hopes of the people of South Viet Nam and press the search for lasting peace.

Band Teacher Hurt in Crash

BENTON, Mo. -- James Carman of Malden, band teacher at the Kelly high school, was injured in a one car accident this morning at 8 a.m. three miles east of here.

Jack Stuart, deputy sheriff of Scott County, said according to witnesses, the accident happened as Carman, driving a 1965 Falcon, was attempting to pass another car on wet pavement.

The car skidded into a utility pole. Carman was taken for treatment to Dr. Bill Seabaugh's office in Cape Girardeau.

After the crash, the pole caught fire. The fire was extinguished before the pole was destroyed.

Nugents Will Call

WASHINGTON AP -- Lucie Johnson's future parents-in-law have accepted an invitation from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to be guests at the White House this weekend.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., arrive at the White House it will be their first meeting with President and Mrs. Johnson although they have talked on the telephone several times since Lucie and Patrick J. Nugent became engaged Christmas Eve.

Miss., originally set up Anderson, Clayton & Co. in Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1916 the firm was moved to Houston because, as he explained, that was the "front door" of the cotton market.

Clayton grew up in Jackson, Tenn. He left school at 13 and by studying shorthand at night qualified as a court stenographer.

However, his work failed to impress one of his early customers -- William Jennings Bryan, who made him retype a speech Clayton had copied because the margins were too narrow.

Anderson, Clayton & Co. grew from an initial $3,000 investment into a firm which in 1965 boasted gross revenue of more than $488 million.

In 1918 he temporarily withdrew from his firm, established in 1904, to become a member of the Committee on Cotton Distribution under the War Industries Board.

High Meat Prices Cause No Concern

BENTON -- E. M. "Smokey" Woods, East St. Louis, Ill., president of the National Livestock Producers, told the annual Scott County Farm Bureau banquet audience not to bother about high cost of meat with 27 and 28 cent pork, as long as the national income remains high.

The banquet was held in St. Denis school basement last night with George E. Fittik, president, Farm Bureau president George Harper, gave the address of welcome to 80.

Woods said that Americans are spending the same per cent of their income for food today that they did 40 years ago.

"The cost of pork will remain high for another 12 months, but should become lower after that by around 40 per cent," he said. "Beef will continue upward for a little more than three years, due to the shortage of breeding stock."

He reminded bankers that beef loans would be the best "paper" they can have for the next three to five years.

Woods added that "the soybean outlook is good for some time. Watch for adjustments wherever needed so that we don't get into trouble like we are in cotton."

Earl Peterson, East St. Louis, of the Livestock Producers Association gave a review of the markets. "The market depends on the wants of the buyer. Take the case of bidding when there are as many as four bidders and it goes to the top because they do not know the other man's bid."

"The cattle market today was $27.50, top hogs brought $28.75 and roosters five and one-half cents."

"In the cattle market I would take all kinds of cattle and grade them into 39 different classes according to the wants of the buyers, and it is then when the buyers bid."

George Sudolt, Columbia fieldman for the Missouri Farm Bureau, told of the growth of the organization in the past 52 years. The Bureau has added many members other than farmers, he said.

Raymond Galemore, with the Scott county Farm Bureau insurance program, stated that life insurance in force totaled $80 million, and also 76,000 persons held casualty policies. Bill Hale was introduced.

Kupferman Thanks Voters In John Lindsay Manner

NEW YORK AP -- In the manner of the man he succeeds in Congress, Liberal Republican Theodore R. Kupferman went on the streets today to thank the voters for his victory in a special election.

By less than 1,000 votes, Kupferman defeated Democrat Orin Lehman Tuesday in the election to fill the seat vacated by John V. Lindsay gave up when he became mayor Jan. 1.

Kupferman, 45, a city councilman and attorney, shook the hands of hundreds of persons as they streamed along the streets

this morning in Manhattan's "skit stocking" 17th Congressional District.

After his victory in November, Mayor Lindsay went out onto the streets to greet the people and thank them for his election.

Kupferman also promised that, like Lindsay, he would not follow the Republican line in Congress. He said he would offer "complete independence and constructive opposition."

Storm Debris Big

Sikeston is gradually coming out of effects of the worst ice storm in many years. The storm struck the night of Jan. 31. Light and power and the telephone company crews have completed the task of repairing broken lines.

The job of removing thousands of broken tree limbs, still remains, and will continue for a week or two, according to Alvin Rhodes, custodian at the city dump.

Up to Tuesday, at least 300 loads of limbs have been hauled to the dump to be burned. This is about half of the total in the Sikeston area.

Two city trucks are hauling daily. County highway trucks are adding to a huge pile of broken limbs.

The pile now measures more than 300 feet long and 30 feet wide.

Burning of the debris awaits dry weather.

365 Employed At Shoe Factory

Charles Bethune, office manager for International Shoe Company plant here said that the factory now employs from 365 to 443, depending on orders. He talked to the Kiwanis club last night and displayed shoes made at the plant.

The payroll was $1,584,000 last year. Each employee made an average of 17 pairs of shoes per working day.

During 1965, the Sikeston factory turned out 1,451,497 pair of shoes, an average of 6,000 per working day.

International has 32 factories in the United States, eight in Canada, two in Australia, and one in France.

The plant here was built in 1923.

A motion was carried to appoint a committee of the club to pick a candidate for Man of the Year honors as requested by the Chamber of Commerce.

Invitations were given to club members to attend the 6th council wide court of honor ceremony when a large class of Eagle scouts will be honored Feb. 20 in Cape Girardeau.

23 Trophies Bought for Tournament

Charles Walls, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Boxing Tournament Committee reported at the Jaycee meeting last night at the Country Club that he has purchased 23 trophies to be given to tournament winners.

The tournament will be held March 4 - 5.

Duke Rudd reported that a raddothion will be held March 11 from 11 a.m. to March 12, 11 a.m.

The broadcasts will be from a show window of the Buckner-Ragsdale store.

Walls reported that five men from Sikeston attended a district meeting of the Missouri Junior Chamber of Commerce at Lutesville Sunday.

He said that it was voted to accept Doniphan the transfer of Doniphan into district 10 from district eight.

Ted Elliott reported that Jaycee vending machines have netted $6.43 this year for mental retardation funds.

It was approved that members of the Jaycees help on road blocks Feb. 19 to assist the March of Dimes campaign.

Two Injured in

Fredericktown Crash

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision five miles south of Fredericktown, on highway 67, Tuesday at 9:15 a.m.

A 1955 Dodge pickup truck driven by Arthur Westmoreland, 57, Cascade, started to slow down for a car in front of him, when he skidded and ran head on into a 1960 Ford, driven by Brice Brewington, 52, Mill Creek.

Injured in the accident were, Agnes Brewington, 53, Mill Creek, passenger in the Ford, who with head cuts and a possible skull fracture, and Esther Westmoreland, 51, Cascade, a passenger in the pickup truck, who was cut on the face and had a possible fractured skull.

The injured were taken to the Madison County Memorial hospital in Fredericktown.

Last night at 11:30 p.m. on highway 60 in Fisk, 1965 tractor-trailer, driven by Robert Postlethwaite, 26, Salina, Kas., slowed down and stopped at a bridge approach for an oncoming car, when the trailer was struck in the rear by a 1961 Comet, driven by J. C. Caldwell, 25, Poplar Bluff.

Caldwell was treated in a Poplar Bluff hospital for minor cuts, and was cited by the patrol for careless and imprudent driving and drinking.

Roche explained that special mountings on the dashboard and beneath the instrument panel would permit the steering column to absorb energy under force from an accident.

"This would cushion the impact of the driver against the steering wheel and also would prevent the column from being forced towards the driver," he said.

Roche said the new braking system will have dual cylinders, one controlling front brakes and the other the rear brakes. The front and rear brakes will be controlled separately and if one of the other of the brake cylinders is not functioning, a red light will flash on the instrument panel.

At President Johnson's request, Clayton joined the new Public Advisory Committee for Trade Negotiations.

Funeral services will be held in Houston at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Inflation Debated By Top Economists

WASHINGTON AP -- Front-rank economists debate today whether inflation can be headed off with the weapons President Johnson is using--short-term tax boosts and the voluntary wage-price guidelines.

Critics and defenders of administration policy were to be heard at an all-day "National Symposium on Inflation, Guideposts and Economic Policy," sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The inflation problem was spotlighted anew with the official announcement Tuesday that unemployment in January dropped to a nine-year low of 4 per cent.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz predicted it will dip to 3 1/2 per cent this year. The increasing difficulty of maintaining price-wage stability as the economy nears full employment has been acknowledged by the President's Council of Economic Advisors. The council has insisted, however, that recent living-cost increases are not inflationary.

Economist Otto Eckstein, who retired from the President's council last week to return to Harvard University, was expected to argue that viewpoint as a member of today's panel.

Other scheduled participants were Dr. Arthur F. Burns, president of the National Bureau of Economic Research, New York, who headed the council under President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Dr. Paul A. Samuelson, professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and adviser to President John F. Kennedy; and Walter D. Fackler, associate dean of the University of Chicago's Graduate School.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Wednesday, February 9, 1882, Swamp, Georgia: Gourd Lorton founds the Society for the Preservation of Druid Ritual.

The low estate to which the American theater has sunk was never more abundantly illustrated than by the televised Senate investigation of the Viet Nam war aims and of the nation's foreign policy.

If this is the best television entertainment that what was once called the world's greatest deliberative body can provide, the aged ranks of Senators should stick to deliberating.

Perry Mason—even Gunsmoke—even on their worst nights offer much more convincing entertainment.

It is disgusting to see Senators fumble around straightening their ties, tossing an obscure hair from their eyes or combing an almost non-existent growth top-side. The old boys don't look any better afterward than they did before.

The powerful lights of the television cameras are too much for many of the tired, old blood-shot eyes. There were appeals to cut off the juice or at least tone it down. For all television spectators across the country saw it would have been just as well.

Since a good appearance was what the senators obviously wanted, it must be a source of great disappointment that they flunked abjectly.

If this show is ever rated, the federal communications commission will be forced to offer a liberal inducement to the networks to encourage them to never attempt it again.

It represents the greatest victory scored for the moving pictures, the magazines and newspapers since television was invented.

As far as secondary considerations are concerned, the senators looked silly from the standpoint of arguing convincingly the great issues involved in the Viet Nam war and the nation's foreign policy.

President Lyndon B. Johnson presents a more convincing case when he appears alone on television.

David E. Bell, foreign aid administrator, by his good manners, good looks and careful phrasing was much more coherent and logical than those wildly jabbering and sometimes incoherent senators who sought to do him in.

The senators obviously were trying to find a scapegoat and to convict someone for the United States' presence in the Viet Nam struggle. They found one all right—themselves.

Score this as another victory for President Johnson and his foreign policy and the executive branch.

The legislative branch was pathetically unimpressive.

It muffled a chance to present constructively the other side of a controversial subject. The show could have been worthwhile but wasn't as it came out.

Let's get on with the war.

There has been a 7 1/2 percent decline in the cardiovascular death rate among U.S. men, aged 45-64, 1950-1962. This overall gain, according to the Missouri Heart Association, has been achieved even though the mortality rate due to heart attack is still going up.

It isn't often that a governor speaks out on such a controversial subject as liquor but Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi not only is an exception but a courageous one.

He has called on the legislature to either legalize and control liquor sales or give the state government the resources to enforce prohibition.

Johnson is correct in describing Mississippi as "the laughing stock of the nation" insofar as prohibition is concerned.

The state has even resorted to taxation of illegal activity, which in itself strikes a new low in hypocrisy and irresponsibility -- taxation by government of activities prohibited by law.

Mississippi has won undesirable but deserved notoriety with its black market liquor tax. This levy produced $5 million in revenue last year. Moonshine liquor also is popular. It is not taxed.

Illegal liquor is being sold openly in most Mississippi's counties. There is more bottle home delivery than there are sales in bars by the drink.

Johnson has asked for a statewide referendum on the issue.

This takes the legislature off the spot.

He should get his wish.

Mississippi is the last state to cling to prohibition.

Oklahoma tossed prohibition out several years ago because of the abuses it created.

Liquor there was easy to obtain at any time by any person of any age.

Oklahoma decided that it would be better to regulate the liquor traffic than to continue to permit such widespread abuses.

The Colonel said: "The only person who listens to both sides of a family argument is the woman in the next apartment."

BIG U.S. SKI JUMP

Ski clubs were first organized in the United States about eighty years ago, but the event that gave skiing its biggest boost into popularity in this country was the Winter Olympics, held in Lake Placid, New York, back in 1932. This began the trend toward special ski trains hauling city dwellers to the ski slopes and the opening of ski resorts from the Appalachians and Laurentians to the Rockies, Cascade Range and Sierra Nevada.

"Newspapers, particularly small newspapers, maintain a dialogue that other media cannot."

This belief has resulted in one of the largest advertising agencies in the world turning more and more to the community newspaper as an outlet for national advertising.

"The immediacy, the intimacy, of communication that exists endows newspaper advertising with a power that is quite exceptional," an executive of the company explained.

He said that products take on a home-town quality when advertised right beside local stores and shops. He called this a powerful advantage.

In the small community there is an intimacy between the opinion maker and the opinion holder that exists nowhere else. "Certainly not on network television nor in mass magazines," he said.

The advertising executive predicted that the emotional factor involved in local newspaper advertising would cause an increasing number of national advertisers to use community newspapers.

The national companies have found it necessary to focus their selling efforts on specific publics. "More and more advertising will thus be channeled into newspapers," the agency official said.

National advertisers, thus, are recognizing the advantage that local retailers have long exercised in selling through their community newspaper—that is, appeal to a specific public through a thoroughly read, intimate medium which brings immediate action.

"THEY SHALL NOT PASS!" The National Origins Quota System, which is the backbone of the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 and of our highly successful immigration policy of the past dozen years, is under ruthless and sinister attack.

Passage of any of several bills now receiving token hearings in the Congress, would open the floodgates to Asiatic and African hordes, destroy the security screen that now protects us against the mass influx of Communist spies and saboteurs and subversives in general.

Specifically, the restraints of the quota system, which insures immigration proportional to the ethnic makeup of the nation -- and therefore assimilable -- would be removed, and arbitrary control of origins placed in the hands of a board of politicians. The tide of immigrants would rise more than threefold -- from 300,000 to more than a million.

Five years of committee hearings and exhaustive research preceded passage of the McCarran-Walter Act after a thoroughgoing debate in both houses of Congress. Its destruction could come swiftly at the hands of a Congress eager to be off for the political wars in San Francisco and Atlantic

HEADING FOR THE DALLAS ROUNDUP

Each year, some thousands of men's fashion authorities assemble in not-too-solemn conclave for discussions and decisions that can provide some guideposts as to what the men of this country will be wearing in the future. This year's gathering will take place in Dallas, Texas, and it is logical that visitors from the super-dressy east and from the extra-casual west coast might be influenced by the "wide-open spaces" look associated with the southwest. We will be giving you a detailed report of the Dallas developments at a later date -- after the dust has settled on the four days of fashion-deliberations, and the four evenings of Texas hospitality!

The dilapidated old car wheezed up to the toll gate. "Seventy cents," said the attendant.

NEW YORK AP -- The greatest treasure chest is memory.

Things in a hope chest mildew and fade with the passing years. But time increases the value of the contents of memory's treasure chest. What remains is tested and true, and shines in the recollecting heart like purest gold.

And you've stored up a lot of 24-carat memories yourself if you can look back and remember when--

It was a mark of progress in a small town when it started its second cemetery.

No dining room was complete without a big cut glass bowl on the real lace tablecloth.

The girl who delivered the valedictory address for the high school graduating class usually wore a gown she had sewn herself.

You first became aware of the problem of inflation when the local movie house jumped its price from a dime to 15 cents.

In grammar school, kids still carried their own small slates to class because many one-room red schoolhouses didn't have blackboards.

Only the well-to-do kept goldfish.

You were afraid the neighbors would think you were a sissy if they saw you helping mama hang up the wash on the back yard line. Mama herself always seemed to have her mouth full of wooden clothespins.

Nothing in the dime store sold for more than a quarter.

Any lady who wore a wig was sure to be talked about all over the neighborhood.

Half the old men with false teeth refused to wear them except when they went to church or attended a funeral.

People were more afraid of tuberculosis than of cancer.

The dikes who hung around the barbershop on Saturday night always wore white buck shoes in summer--and snapped their bow ties whenever a pretty girl went by.

You could go through life without ever meeting anyone who had never been to Korea or Viet Nam.

Those were the good old days!

"Shall We Open Up or Run for Cover?"

"Sold," answered the driver wearily.

On his first day at school, the young hillbilly lad insisted against his teacher's continued questioning that his real name was "Dammit" Jones.

Teacher learned to live with the situation and things went fine until one day the superintendent visited the room and asked, "Which one of you students can spell 'Constatinople'?"

When young Mr. Jones jumped to his feet, his teacher rushed up to state firmly, "Now, Dammit, you know you can't spell 'Constatinople'!" ... and the superintendent exclaimed, "Well, what the hell, let'im try!"

Teenager: "The trouble with my parents is they can't remember what it's like to be young." Buddy: "You're lucky, Mine can!"

BEAUTY IS AS BEAUTY SPEAKS

The quote of the month -- or maybe the year--could well be the one attributed to a state highway engineer in commenting on a report that the State Highway Department had launched a junk yard beautification project without notifying the operator of the junk yard.

The pretty young thing ap-

"We don't have to notify anybody," the engineer is quoted as saying, "We've got a federal law that tells us what we have to do. All we have to do is do it."

Now, nobody wants to fight beauty or complain about hiding a roadside junk yard. But such an attitude on the part of what is sometimes euphemistically called a public servant is hardly the way to win friends--or votes -- for a state administration which is responsible for the actions of its highway department.

The public image of highway departments in general isn't--let's face it -- too glittering as it is. And a "public-be-damned" utterance may not be the best way to enhance it. The gentleman who is quoted as making the statement no doubt understands blueprints and slide rules. But he could brush up a bit on people and human nature.

Beautification projects would then be even more beautiful.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- From secret letters and memos that were supposed to have been destroyed, this column has now uncovered the startling story of how Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., flew to Germany to make apitch to West German leaders and industrialists not to cancel their $150,000 - a-year contracts with Julius Klein Public Relations, Inc.

This column has also interviewed more than a dozen people from Bonn, Germany, to Chicago, Ill., to nail down the details of Dodd's amazing mission to Germany last April.

He took with him written instructions from Gen. Julius Klein, founder of the Public Relations firm, spelling out exactly whom Dodd should see and what he should tell them.

A U. S. Senator is one of 100 top legislators in the nation, in fact one of the most important in the world. He is not supposed to run errands for a foreign agent or deliver speeches written by such an agent.

Nevertheless, Sen. Dodd was given an individual "briefing memo" on each person he was supposed to contact on behalf of Gen. Klein. First on his list was Dr. Hans Globke, the former West German Secretary of State.

"When in Bonn," directed Klein's memo to Dodd, "see him first to brief you. Dr. Globke is your devoted friend.

He will ever be grateful to you for the courageous stand taken in your Senate speech of 1960 . . . to refresh your memory, attached is a marked copy of your speech.

"Globke was the liaison man with whom I worked closely while working with Chancellor Adenauer and Dr. von Brentano (West Germany's late Foreign Minister). He knows the problem from A to Z. He is already working on my problem. He will brief you exactly and give you all the assistance that you need."

"Dr. Globke will support and guide you 100 per cent in my behalf. You can show him everything and discuss everything with him. He might add some points to the prepared memos for your discussion."

AUTHOR OF ANTI-JEWISH LAW

The ironic paradox regarding Klein's relations with Dr. Globke is that Globke was the expert in Hitler's interior ministry who wrote the decree singling out Jews for discrimination.

Adolf Eichmann, on trial in Israel for extermination of German Jews, testified on June 21, 1961, that Dr. Hans Globke was responsible for the Nazi measures that deprived German Jews of citizenship.

According to the New York Times of June 22, 1961, "Eichmann implied that Dr. Globke, while he was in the legal department of the Nazi wartime Department of Interior, had been responsible with an official named Hering for supplemental decrees of the Nuremberg racial laws. A final decree in 1943 deprived Jews of access to the courts and left them wholly at the mercy of the police."

The New York Times quoted Eichmann as testifying: "This phenomenon was undoubtedly the result of the initiative of Department One of the Ministry of Interior under Hering and Globke -- and their efforts in withdrawing citizenship from Jews and in confiscating Jewish property."

By Foster and Epstein further states: "Hans Globke, credited with drafting the Nazi legal justifications for the Nuremberg racial laws, is now in charge of Adenauer's Federal Press and Chancellery offices. In 1936, Globke made this official contribution to German racial legislation: 'The Jew is completely alien to us in character and blood . . . the Nuremberg laws will form a permanent blockade against further penetration of Jewish blood into the German nation.'"

The book "Destruction of the European Jews" by Raul Hilberg gives further details regarding Globke's part in Hitler's anti-Jewish campaign.

"The revocation order (forcing Jews who had adopted German names to return to their

"The captain is forward, miss," he replied. "That's all right," she said, giggling. "This is a pleasure cruise, isn't it?"

MCCRACKEN: LOW INTEREST RATES CAN HARM ECONOMY

A possible but by no means certain upward drift in price levels is much preferable to increased government controls over the economy, in the opinion of Dr. Paul W. McCracken, professor of business conditions at the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

Addressing the 17th National Tax Conference sponsored by Tax Foundation, Inc., Dr. McCracken, a former member of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the success of the tax cut and other elements of recent economic policy is being endangered by a "fuzzing and disconcerting disinclination in Washington to let their own strategy of economic policy now work itself out in the monetary and credit area."

He said that the rate of monetary expansion is increasing too fast--at a rate of nearly 14 percent per year in October--compared with the more moderate pace of general economic growth since reasonable full employment has been regained.

Dr. McCracken said that instead of permitting necessary and "wholly desirable" increases in interest rates, the government appears to have adopted the view that low interest rates are good for the economy under all circumstances.

"The always-low-interest - rates dogma," he said, "is a doctrinaire approach to an important instrument of policy that can be just as inimical to good economic performance as the view that the budget ought always to be balanced, regardless of circumstances. It is just as unintellectual as its fiscal predecessor, and its potential for inflicting severe damage to the economic welfare of people is probably vastly greater."

The stress on low interest rates, he said, "increases the probability of a disorderly run-up in the domestic economy and more acute external payments problems that might force a sharp, de-stabilizing shift toward stringent conditions."

There would also be, he said, a great tendency to move in ad hoc fashion toward more and more direct controls "if we are disinclined to permit a monetary policy which enables the pricing system to keep the economy in reasonable equilibrium at full employment."

BLACKOUTS AND BUREAUCRACY

The recent power blackout on the Eastern Seaboard opened another crack through which federal control over almost everything will ooze.

First among the collectivists to grab this opportunity to advance collectivism was Democratic Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana. Patman, in a television appearance, said that the blackout indicated further need for governmental activity and possible legislation. He proposed to bring the subject before some congressional committee, probably his own.

One of the obvious causes of the mass blackout was the fact that so many utility companies in so many different cities were hooked together in this giant power grid. Yet Patman's solution ignores the fact, proposing to join the electric systems of the entire country together, all the lights in the nation could be blacked out by a tripped relay.

With a logic born of years of appealing to the mentality that craves to share in the unearned, Patman saw no reason why one part of the country should be without power, when the rest has it. To prove such a concept, he used as his example the Soviet Union, where, said Patman, electric power is transmitted thousands of miles. He added that if the Russians could do this, we should be able to transmit power from such sources as the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) complex.

In cases where peak demands justify purchases of power from other areas, America's private power companies appear capable of managing their own business. Considering the questionable state of world affairs, it would seem that politicians and bureaucrats should concentrate on managing theirs. H.L.H.

Being the skilled scientist he is, Mr. Johnson decided to change that image with the best chamer of the White House entourage. Mr. Johnson had seen Mr. Humphrey work magic with tough southern Senators for 16 years. Why not try it on not so tough businessmen.

The fact that Mr. Humphrey had a labor image would only make the operation more intriguing and therefore more effective.

Apparently, Mr. Humphrey's new romance with the nation's business is not just aimed at strengthening his chance to beat off an attack by the Kennedy forces. That is being played out in another political theater. And it might be entitled street scenes.

For quite a while now, Hubert Humphrey has done inside the Democratic Party and inside labor. As an intellectual of the moderate left, he is moving moderately right. Thus he is building up forces to do battle with Bob Kennedy who is moving moderately left.

In this game of political chairs, Mr. Humphrey serves himself. When he banters with businessmen, he serves the President.

The low estate to which the American theater has sunk was never more abundantly illustrated than by the televised Senate investigation of the Viet Nam war aims and of the nation's foreign policy.

If this is the best television entertainment that what was once called the world's greatest deliberative body can provide, the aged ranks of Senators should stick to deliberating.

Perry Mason—even Gunsmoke—even on their worst nights offer much more convincing entertainment.

It is disgusting to see Senators fumble around straightening their ties, tossing an obscure hair from their eyes or combing an almost non-existent growth topside. The old boys don't look any better afterward than they did before.

The powerful lights of the television cameras are too much for many of the tired, old blood-shot eyes. There were appeals to cut off the juice or at least tone it down. For all television spectators across the country saw it would have been just as well.

Since a good appearance was what the senators obviously wanted, it must be a source of great disappointment that they flunked abjectly.

If this show is ever rated, the federal communications commission will be forced to offer a liberal inducement to the networks to encourage them to never attempt it again.

It represents the greatest victory scored for the moving pictures, the magazines and newspapers since television was invented.

As far as secondary considerations are concerned, the senators looked silly from the standpoint of arguing convincingly the great issues involved in the Viet Nam war and the nation's foreign policy.

President Lyndon B. Johnson presents a more convincing case when he appears alone on television.

David E. Bell, foreign aid administrator, by his good manners, good looks and careful phrasing was much more coherent and logical than those wildly jabbering and sometimes incoherent senators who sought to do him in.

The senators obviously were trying to find a scapegoat and to convict someone for the United States' presence in the Viet Nam struggle. They found one all right—themselves.

Score this as another victory for President Johnson and his foreign policy and the executive branch.

The legislative branch was pathetically unimpressive.

It muffled a chance to present constructively the other side of a controversial subject. The show could have been worthwhile but wasn't as it came out.

Let's get on with the war.

There has been a 7 1/2 percent decline in the cardiovascular death rate among U.S. men, aged 45-64, 1950-1962. This overall gain, according to the Missouri Heart Association, has been achieved even though the mortality rate due to heart attack is still going up.

It isn't often that a governor speaks out on such a controversial subject as liquor but Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi not only is an exception but a courageous one.

He has called on the legislature to either legalize and control liquor sales or give the state government the resources to enforce prohibition.

Johnson is correct in describing Mississippi as "the laughing stock of the nation" insofar as prohibition is concerned.

The state has even resorted to taxation of illegal activity, which in itself strikes a new low in hypocrisy and irresponsibility -- taxation by government of activities prohibited by law.

Mississippi has won undesirable but deserved notoriety with its black market liquor tax. This levy produced $5 million in revenue last year. Moonshine liquor also is popular. It is not taxed.

Illegal liquor is being sold openly in most Mississippi's counties. There is more bottle home delivery than there are sales in bars by the drink.

Johnson has asked for a statewide referendum on the issue.

This takes the legislature off the spot. He should get his wish.

Mississippi is the last state to cling to prohibition.

Oklahoma tossed prohibition out several years ago because of the abuses it created.

Liquor there was easy to obtain at any time by any person of any age.

Oklahoma decided that it would be better to regulate the liquor traffic than to continue to permit such widespread abuses.

BIG U.S. SKI JUMP

Ski clubs were first organized in the United States about eighty years ago, but the event that gave skiing its biggest boost into popularity in this country was the Winter Olympics, held in Lake Placid, New York, back in 1932. This began the trend toward special ski trains hauling city dwellers to the ski slopes and the opening of ski resorts from the Appalachians and Laurentians to the Rockies, Cascade Range and Sierra Nevada.

"Newspapers, particularly small newspapers, maintain a dialogue that other media cannot." This belief has resulted in one of the largest advertising agencies in the world turning more and more to the community newspaper as an outlet for national advertising.

"The immediacy, the intimacy, of communication that exists endows newspaper advertising with a power that is quite exceptional," an executive of the company explained.

He said that products take on a home-town quality when advertised right beside local stores and shops. He called this a powerful advantage.

In the small community there is an intimacy between the opinion maker and the opinion holder that exists nowhere else. "Certainly not on network television nor in mass magazines," he said.

The advertising executive predicted that the emotional factor involved in local newspaper advertising would cause an increasing number of national advertisers to use community newspapers.

The national companies have found it necessary to focus their selling efforts on specific publics. "More and more advertising will thus be channeled into newspapers," the agency official said.

National advertisers, thus, are recognizing the advantage that local retailers have long exercised in selling through their community newspaper—that is, appeal to a specific public through a thoroughly read, intimate medium which brings immediate action.

The National Origins Quota System, which is the backbone of the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 and of our highly successful immigration policy of the past dozen years, is under ruthless and sinister attack. Passage of any of several bills now receiving token hearings in the Congress, would open the floodgates to Asiatic and African hordes, destroy the security screen that now protects us against the mass influx of Communist spies and saboteurs and subversives in general.

Specifically, the restraints of the quota system, which insures immigration proportional to the ethnic makeup of the nation -- and therefore assimilable -- would be removed, and arbitrary control of origins placed in the hands of a board of politicians. The tide of immigrants would rise more than threefold -- from 300,000 to more than a million.

Five years of committee hearings and exhaustive research preceded passage of the McCarran-Walter Act after a thoroughgoing debate in both houses of Congress. Its destruction could come swiftly at the hands of a Congress eager to be off for the political wars in San Francisco and Atlantic

A possible but by no means certain upward drift in price levels is much preferable to increased government controls over the economy, in the opinion of Dr. Paul W. McCracken, professor of business conditions at the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

Addressing the 17th National Tax Conference sponsored by Tax Foundation, Inc., Dr. McCracken, a former member of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the success of the tax cut and other elements of recent economic policy is being endangered by a "puzzling and disconcerting disinclination in Washington to let their own strategy of economic policy now work itself out in the monetary and credit area."

He said that the rate of monetary expansion is increasing too fast--at a rate of nearly 14 percent per year in October--compared with the more moderate pace of general economic growth since reasonable full employment has been regained.

Dr. McCracken said that instead of permitting necessary and "wholly desirable" increases in interest rates, the government appears to have adopted the view that low interest rates are good for the economy under all circumstances.

"The always-low-interest rates dogma," he said, "is a doctrinaire approach to an important instrument of policy that can be just as inimical to good economic performance as the view that the budget ought always to be balanced, regardless of circumstances. It is just as unintellectual as its fiscal predecessor, and its potential for inflicting severe damage to the economic welfare of people is probably vastly greater."

The stress on low interest rates, he said, "increases the probability of a disorderly run-up in the domestic economy and more acute external payments problems that might force a sharp, de-stabilizing shift toward stringent conditions." There would also be, he said, a great tendency to move in ad hoc fashion toward more and more direct controls "if we are disinclined to permit a monetary policy which enables the pricing system to keep the economy in reasonable equilibrium at full employment."

Scouts Attend Convention In Portageville

"A Promise in Action" was the theme of the annual Cadette Convention held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Portageville high school gym.

Mrs. Edward Deere and Mrs. L. B. Painter, with the assistance of Troop 186, were hostesses to 300 girls and leaders of the Cotton Boll Council, Idaho. Twenty-two Senior Scouts from the Council were chosen to attend. Sara Arnold, Senior Girl Scout of Troop 110 in Malden spoke briefly on "A Promise in Action."

Lunch was served by the Knights of Columbus women. The afternoon program began with the Roundup movie, "Light on the Mountain," which showed the 9,000 National Roundup Senior Girl Scouts cooking, singing, demonstration skills, making friends with girls from foreign countries and enjoying the thrill of the pageant and the inspiration of the arena events.

These girls really learned how a Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout.

The Portageville girls presented a fashion show using skills learned in their challenge of social dependability. Some of the fashions were made by the girls. A local band, the A Vantis, provided music.

Troop 186 closed the program with a medley of songs from "The Sound of Music" under the direction of Mrs. Annie Wrather. The Rev. Tom Smith, pastor of the Portageville Church of God, gave the benediction.

Attending from Sikeston were Troop 159, Mrs. John Sargent and Mrs. John Doggett, leaders; Troop 111, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer, Miss Bertha Mae Joyce and Mrs. T. E. Campbell, leaders; and Troop 134, Mrs. Adrian Young, leader.

Scouts Attend Convention In Portageville

"A Promise in Action" was the theme of the annual Cadette Convention held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Portageville high school gym.

Mrs. Edward Deere and Mrs. L. B. Painter, with the assistance of Troop 186, were hostesses to 300 girls and leaders of the Cotton Boll Council. The program opened with the flag ceremony conducted by Troop 186 of Portageville and the girls pledged their duty to their country.

The morning was filled with discussion of the 1965 National Roundup in Idaho. Twenty-two Senior Scouts from the Council were chosen to attend. Sara Arnold, Senior Girl Scout of Troop 110 in Malden spoke briefly on "A Promise in Action."

Lunch was served by the Knights of Columbus women. The afternoon program began with the Roundup movie, "Light on the Mountain," which showed the 9,000 National Roundup Senior Girl Scouts cooking, singing, demonstration skills, making friends with girls from foreign countries and enjoying the thrill of the pageant and the inspiration of the arena events.

These girls really learned how a Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout. The Portageville girls presented a fashion show using skills learned in their challenge of social dependability. Some of the fashions were made by the girls. A local band, the A Vantis, provided music.

Troop 186 closed the program with a medley of songs from "The Sound of Music" under the direction of Mrs. Annie Wrather. The Rev. Tom Smith, pastor of the Portageville Church of God, gave the benediction.

Attending from Sikeston were Troop 159, Mrs. John Sargent and Mrs. John Doggett, leaders; Troop 111, Mrs. Maurice Stauffer, Miss Bertha Mae Joyce and Mrs. T. E. Campbell, leaders, and Troop 134, Mrs. Adrian Young, leader.

Healthier

Americans are healthier than most of the peoples of the world, at least in terms of the amount of money they spend on medical care. In 1960, the figure was $20 billion, six times as much as in 1940, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Here and There Convicted of Sending False Distress Call

BOSTON AP -- A man who sent a false distress call over a citizens band radio has been sentenced to one year in a federal prison.

Richard F. Conefry, 24, of Brockton, Mass., was convicted of sending a message April 23, 1965, that a vessel was sinking in Yarmouth Harbor.

BURLINGTON, Mass. AP -- About 50 pupils at Burlington Junior High School have collected 5,000 bars of soap for the people of South Viet Nam. U.S. Marines stationed at the South Weymouth base will ship the soap.

NEW ORLEANS, La. AP -- Cities which dump raw sewage into streams and rivers are the biggest offenders in water pollution in the United States, says the vice president of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Sam S. Studebaker of Tipp City, Ohio, said the nation would face a daily shortage of a billion gallons of quality water by the end of the century.

Speaking at the 25th annual convention of the association, he said: "We are making headway on soil conservation, but we are slipping backwards on water pollution."

MIAMI, Fla. AP -- An alleged plot to kill Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro is reported to have resulted in the arrest of 130 persons, the Cuban exile news service AIP said.

NEW YORK AP -- The apartment of the late Helena Rubinstein--considered one of the most lavish ones in Manhattan--is for rent.

The rent on the 26-room triplex at 625 Park Ave. is $50,000 a year.

The multimillionaire cosmetics manufacturer died last April at the age of 84.

MONTPELIER, Vt. AP -- A bill before the Vermont House would appropriate $50,000 to encourage topflight skiers to attend Vermont colleges.

The bill called it "in the public interest of the state that talented young skiers be encouraged and assisted" to attend Vermont schools and represent them in national and international skiing events.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Attend Square Dance In St. Louis

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Volner and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Moore returned from St. Louis Sunday evening where Mr. Volner called a square dance for the Squares and Pairs Club Sunday afternoon.

There were 52 squares of dancers attending and several spectators. The hall was decorated in keeping with a hobo theme and the majority of the dancers were attired in hobo costumes. Various prizes were given during the afternoon by the president of the club to the "best looking hobos." Several presidents and callers of various St. Louis clubs were present and were introduced to Mr. Volner at the close of the dance.

Also accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Volner to the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alsop and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nall of Kennett and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Marro of Blytheville, Ark. Mr. Volner is scheduled to call in St. Louis again in May, September and December.

Wichita made it 11 straight basketball victories at home and 59 of its last 63 in the Wichita Roundhouse over a five-year span by upsetting third-ranked Chicago Loyola 92-84 Tuesday night.

The victory gave the Missouri Valley Conference a 61-25 record against outside opponents for a winning percentage of .709.

Warren Armstrong, a high-leaping 6-foot-2 sophomore, scored 25 points and grabbed 18 rebounds for Wichita. His teammate, Kelly Pete, had 19 points and 19 rebounds. Wichita's Jamie Thompson, the Valley's all-time games scoring leader, had 16 but 14 came in the last half.

Loyola's 14-game winning streak was smashed, leaving the Ramblers with a 16-2 record. Loyola's only other defeat was at home to Oklahoma City by 17 points. Wichita stands 11-6 for the year.

Loyola played without Alan Miller, a 12.9 scorer. He is ineligible. Doug Wardlaw, a 15.4 scorer, was held to five. Corky Bell had 26, Billy Smith 25 for the losers.

In the past five years, Wichita's only home court defeats were to Tulsa 63-60 in the last game of the 1962 season, to Texas Western 75-74 in 1964, to Kansas State 94-86 in the 1964 NCAA regional finals and to Bradley 77-73 on Feb. 27 last year. The Shockers have won 31 of their last 32 regular season home games.

The Valley race resumes Thursday night with Bradley, 5-3, at North Texas, 0-7; Wichita 4-3, at Cincinnati, 5-3; Louisville 3-5, at Drake, 5-3; and St. Louis, 4-4, at Tulsa, 4-2.

Gail Cogill Suspended By Detroit Lions

DETROIT AP -- For the first time in their 31-year history the Detroit Lions have suspended a player.

Veteran end Gail Cogill was given an indefinite suspension by the National Football League club Tuesday for remarks he reportedly made about the club's head coach, Harry Gilmer, its management and about other players on the team.

Gilmer, announcing the suspension in a two-paragraph statement backed by club owner William Clay Ford and General Manager Edwin Anderson, said, "after a thorough investigation of remarks publicly made by Cogill at a meeting in Flint Mich. last Wednesday, the weight of the evidence is that he did make positive statements detrimental to the best interests of the Detroit Lions management, its coaches, some of its players in particular, and to professional football in general."

Gilmer said he took the action against Cogill with regret.

The suspension was the first made by the Lions. Alex Karras, a Lions defensive tackle, was suspended in 1963, but his was a league and not a club suspension.

"I'm not going to say anything. I'll take care of this myself. I have nothing to say," Cogill said after the announcement.

At a meeting of the Flint, Mich., Junior Women's Club, Cogill reportedly said Gilmer "doesn't know how to handle men and he's not ready for a coaching job. If Gilmer comes back at all, he might be the only one who does."

The 6-foot-2, 190 pound end later denied making such statements, but Lions' officials ordered an investigation.

NFL officials in New York refused comment, saying it was a "club affair."

ORAN -- Oran won their 21st game of the season here last night as they smashed Chaffee 89-37. The Junior Eagles made it a sweep of the night's action as they defeated Chaffee's "B" team 46-36.

Oran led by an all out team effort, and a 33 point production by star guard Don Metz, sailed to the win rather easily.

Oran held their visitors to only 14 points the first half as they held a 40-14 first half lead and played reserves the entire last half.

Chaffee was led by White with 17 points, and was followed by Richburg with seven.

Graham led Oran scorers with 19 points in the "B" game while Heel collected 11 for Chaffee.

Wildcats Slip Past New Madrid

NEW MADRID -- Bloomfield swept two games from the host Indians here last night winning the "B" game 49-34, and the "A" contest 45-39.

Williamson, led Bloomfield to their "B" team victory as he scored 21 points and pulled down 14 rebounds. For New Madrid it was Lomax with 12.

In the "A" game New Madrid had upset on their mind but could not hold the mighty Wildcats as the third quarter proved decisive for Bloomfield. New Madrid jumped out to a 10-9 first period lead and were in a tie at the end of the second period but Bloomfield pulled away in the third quarter and was never threatened again.

New Madrid was knocked out of the upset by committing 23 fouls with three players fouling out.

Bloomfield was led to their victory by Mike Wise, and Don Underwood, who collected 18 and 13 points respectively. Don who is recovering from a bad sprained ankle seems to be coming back into his own.

Shibley, led New Madrid in the scoring column with 13 points, followed by Harron with eight.

East Prairie Upsets Matthews

EAST PRAIRIE -- Matthews split games here last night with the home town five upsetting Matthews in the "A" game 80-70, and Matthews winning the "B" contest 70-32.

East Prairie jumped out to a 17-15 first period lead in the "A" game and was never again threatened.

Fine performances by Syres and Davis, with 24 and 16 points respectively, along with fine rebounding was the major factor in the win. East Prairie's zone defense had Matthews taking shots they would normally not take.

Hicks led Matthews scorers with 21 points followed by Whitson, with 12 points. Matthews made numerous floor mistakes as this contributed to their loss.

Bishop led Matthews scorers with 17 points in the "B" game, while Cooper collected eight points for East Prairie.

EAST LANSING, Mich. AP--

Fourteen defending track and field champions are returning Saturday for the 18-event Michigan State Relays.

The field will total 500 athletes from 27 colleges -- "the best over all field we've had in several years with several records, particularly in the field events, in jeopardy," said Fran Dittrich, meet director.

Defending individual champions include Mickey Miller of Oklahoma State, 300-yard run; Gene Crews of Missouri, shot put; Steve Herndon of Missouri, high jump; Charlie Brown of Missouri, 60-yard dash.

Defending relay titles will be Oklahoma State in the twomile, Oklahoma State and Southern Illinois in the University mile and Missouri in the distance medley.

HOUSTON, Tex. AP -- One robin doesn't make a spring but heavyweight Cleveland Williams indicated in his comeback fight Tuesday night that he's none the worse for wear from being out of the game for 14 months with a gunshot wound.

Williams made his first start since an altercation with a Texas highway patrolman sent him to a hospital with a wound that was expected to end his boxing career.

He appeared as good as ever as he knocked out Ben Black of Chicago in the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Williams weighed 214, Black 233.

Williams was ranked No. 2 by the World Boxing Association when he was shot.

Cardinals Sign Jaiver And Kernek

The pair who very well could patrol the right side of the Cardinal infield regularly in 1966--first baseman George Kernek and second baseman Julian Jaiver -- have signed their 1966 contracts, according to an announcement today by General Manager Bob Howsam.

Kernek, probably the leading but not the only candidate fighting for the job at first base for the Red Birds, visited the Busch Stadium offices to sign with Howsam, while Jaiver, sent his in by mail from his home in the Dominican Republic.

As a result, the Cardinals now have a dozen players in the fold for 1966.

Jaiver, who has signed at St. Petersburg, Florida, on the opening day of Spring Training the last two seasons, was an early bird this time. The 29-year-old Dominican father of four is determined to make 1966 an outstanding year.

Beset by injuries last season, he played in only 77 of the 162 contests. The longest he was out was a month and a half, the result of a broken hand incurred when struck by a pitch by Vernon Law of the Pirates.

Jaiver is expected to get strong competition for his job from Phil Gagliano, Jerry Buchek and Dal Maxvill.

Kernek, a 26-year-old from Holdenville, Oklahoma, had a great season in 1966 with Jacksonville, hitting .295 with 19 home runs.

He also was proficient in a late-season trial with the St. Louis club, hitting .290 in 31 times at bat in 10 games. The former Oklahoma University basketball player was a member of the International League All-Star team last season.

College Basketball Round-Up

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was an active night on the basketball market.

The Wheatshockers went up, the Cornhuskers went down and Rice was unchanged.

Wichita's Wheatshockers, nearly invincible at home, made a shambles of Chicago Loyola's No. 3 ranking by beating the Ramblers 92-84. It was the 11th straight victory at home for the Shockers who have won 31 of the last 32 regular season games in Wichita and 59 of 63 in the last five seasons.

Nebraska's ninth-ranked Cornhuskers, meanwhile, dropped an 85-81 overtime decision at Oklahoma City when the Chiefs' Jerry Lee Wells scored two baskets in the final three seconds of the extra period.

It was the same old story for Rice at Houston. The Owls hung on against Arkansas until the final three minutes when the Razorbacks pulled away for a 76-71 victory -- Rice's 26th consecutive loss.

In Syracuse, the Orangemen romped past Cornell 120-85 with Dave Bing doing most of the damage. Bing, a 6-foot-3 senior, scored 39 points and had 25 rebounds and eight assists as Syracuse ran its record to 14-3.

In other major games, Detroit's Dorie Murrey led the Titans past touring St. Bonaventure 89-84. Boston College started slowly but broke away to a 101-80 victory over Massachusetts and Georgetown barely made it past Rutgers 76-73 in overtime.

Elsewhere, Utah walloped

New Mexico State 131-94, Penn State scored 63 points in the second half and whipped Kent State 94-72. Georgia Tech hit 66 percent of its first-half shots and rolled past Furman 110-68 and Texas edged Texas Christian 77-75.

Wichita got 25 points and 18 rebounds from Warren Armstrong and ended Chicago Loyola's winning streak at 14 games. Kelly Pete hit 19 for the Shockers, defending Missouri Valley conference champs, who now are 11-6.

Corky Bell had 26 points and Billy Smith 25 for the Ramblers, who suffered their second loss in 18 starts. The other setback came against Oklahoma City, which spent Tuesday hounding and finally beating Nebraska.

The Chiefs tied the score on Gary Gray's 30-footer with regulation time running out.

The Cornhuskers held a 81-77 bulge but Wells hit from the side and Jim Ware, the country's leading rebounder, scored two foul shots for the tie.

Then Wells, who finished with 27 points, grabbed a jump ball and put Oklahoma City ahead 83-81 with three seconds remaining.

Willie Mays, Signed Contract

SAN FRANCISCO AP -- A sports columnist has reported that Willie Mays already has signed a $125,000 contract that will make the San Francisco Giants' center fielder the highest-paid player in baseball history.

But club Vice President Charles Chub Feeney says, "I think the report is a little premature. We'll have an announcement about that in a few days."

Jack Hanley, who writes for a series of northern California newspapers and travels with the Giants, wrote Tuesday that Mays had signed his contract the day before at Candlestick Park.

A $125,000 contract would represent a $20,000 raise for the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1965.

Ted Williams once was reported as receiving $125,000 for a season when he played for the Boston Red Sox.

"I suspect the $125,000 for Williams might be a little high," Feeney said last month. "But, regardless, Willie will probably top all figures."

The Giants make it a policy never to announce salary figures.

Lilbourn Elects Homecoming Queen

LILBOURN -- Nora Belle Ash, senior, was elected 1965-66 "Homecoming Queen" Monday, February 1 by the A & B team basketball players.

First alternate chosen was Paulette Crumley, senior, and second alternate chosen was Joanna Duncan, junior.

Twelve basketball boys and twelve girls whom they choose to walk with, will make up the complete "Queen's Court".

Nora Belle will be crowned between halves of the B game with New Madrid on February 11.

Braves Get Good Comments From Mayor Ivan Allen

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. AP -- Mayor Ivan Allen says Georgians are ready to prove that "the Braves' move to Atlanta was the best thing that has happened to baseball since Ty Cobb."

Wisconsin officials fighting the National League baseball team's transfer out of Milwaukee undoubtedly disagree with the Atlanta mayor who says he no longer has any questions about where the Braves will play in 1966.

A ruling by Fulton Superior Court Judge Sam Phillips McKenzie Tuesday "ends for all time, so far as Atlanta and the Southeast are concerned, any questions about the future of the Atlanta Braves," Allen said.

McKenzie ordered the Braves to disregard a Wisconsin court order and comply with a 25-year contract which calls for them to play their home games in Atlanta.

"From here on, the success of the Braves and the success of Atlanta and the Southeast as a showplace for major league baseball is up to the people of Atlanta and Georgia," Allen said.

"I want the sports writers in Milwaukee and Chicago and New York who have been crying about the Milwaukee fans -- who let the Braves down except when they won pennants -- to come down here to our town and see real baseball fans cheering a real baseball team, season after season, never deserting them, win or lose," Allen said.

Wisconsin officials, contending that the Braves and the National League violated the state's antitrust laws, have filed suit against the team. A

Wisconsin court last month ordered the Braves to prepare to play their games in Milwaukee in 1966.

McKenzie, in his ruling in Georgia Superior Court, said he was reluctant to pass an order "which might conflict with an order of a court of another sovereign state."

"This judicial reluctance cannot, however, justify this court's striking, however distasteful, a duty imposed," Judge McKenzie said, and added that the Braves' contract with Atlanta is a "valid, binding, legal contract" regardless of court action taken in Wisconsin.

Prepare for Stepped up Conflict

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK AP -- Signs are multiplying that many U.S. businessmen are preparing for the chance that the Viet Nam war will be stepped up.

Reports from Honolulu of greater determination to see the war through are being interpreted by many here as reasons for industry and trade to take more precautions now. The memory of Korean War conditions still is fresh.

Precautions already clearly under way include increased orders for materials and durable goods, specially machinery. Backlogs of orders on factory books are rising. And more pressure is reported for early shipments -- a demand that some suppliers are finding hard to satisfy.

The scope of the war effort is becoming more apparent -- American military personnel in South Viet Nam already increased to 200,000, and the official estimate boosting the cost of the war to $10 billion in the next fiscal year, from $4 billion in this one.

Industrial prices have been feeling the pressure. Many manufacturers, unable to get quick delivery on needed materials, have been paying more in the secondary markets than the listed price set by the producer. Such buying at higher prices doesn't show up in the official price indexes, but it does on company books.

Interest rates have felt the demand for funds to finance these purchases of materials for quick use or for inventory buildups as a hedge against what may be ahead. Bankers say such business psychology is back of some of the growing demand for business loans.

Much of the rise in interest rates or yields on outstanding securities is attributed both to the swelling demand for more loans and to the fairly general belief that increasing demand in the months ahead will send interest rates still higher.

Reports from Honolulu and from Washington stress the continued quest for peace. And businessmen, like other American citizens, hope it will be successful.

But many feel they have to be ready just in case.

And rising prices on some needed materials, shortages of others, the quest in certain industries for the type of worker skills they need, along with the growing belief that inflation something like the Korean War type is a possibility -- all sharpen the desire to take precautions.

Investors' Corner

What a stock broker can and can't do for a new investor.

If you think investing might help your family enjoy a better life, you may want to know more about stock brokers.

Q. What does a stock broker do? A. Basically, he executes your orders to buy or sell securities. He can also explain how the market functions, give you facts he may have about companies that interest you, and suggest investments you may not be familiar with.

Q. Will a broker give you advice? A. All you have to do is ask. He may not always be right, but he can often suggest opportunities you may wish to examine more closely.

Q. Are all brokers connected with the New York Stock Exchange? A. No. Only those with member firms. Each registered representative had to satisfy Exchange requirements for knowledge of the securities business at the time he was registered.

Q. How much does a broker charge? A. A member firm broker's commission is among the lowest charged for the transfer of any type of property. Example: If 100 shares are purchased for $3,000, according to the schedule now used by member firms, the charge would be $34, or about 1.1%. (When odd lots, usually less than 100 shares, are traded, the cost per share is slightly higher.)

Q. How do I find a member firm broker? A. Check your telephone directory's Yellow Pages. Or, look for an office that displays the sign "Member Firm New York Stock Exchange." There are some 3,500 member firm offices, probably one near you.

How a broker can help you start your investment program.

1. He can discuss with you how much you might invest. Remember: don't use money needed for regular living expenses or emergencies. All investments carry a certain risk.

2. He can help you choose a specific goal: Perhaps dividends for more income now. If your concern is safety of capital, you might consider bonds. Or maybe you're looking for a long-range increase in the value of your investment.

3. He can help you get information about a particular company so that you can make a more informed judgment as to its prospects.

4. He can suggest various investment possibilities among stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. There are some 1,200 -- among them some of the most respected names in American business.

CAP Unit Drops Feed

MALDEN -- Operation Turkey was performed Sunday by the Malden squadron of the civil air patrol, in answer to the most unusual request since the squadron started operation about a year ago.

The New Madrid Country Sportsmen club asked the squadron to help in feeding of wild turkeys on island number ten, north of New Madrid. The wild turkeys were placed there several years ago by the club and the state conservation commission. The area sportsmen are looking forward to the time they can have open season in this area.

The heavy ice, snow, and cold weather had made it difficult for the turkeys to find enough food. Corn was sacked up in 10 pound sacks and dropped over the area.

Helping the operation were Whitson Henry, Clarence Poore, John D. Henry, from the Sportsmen club, and Lt. Charles Mertel, Lt. Wilburn Thornton, Lt. Claude Mize, Lt. Charles Musgraves, Lt. Carmel Laceywell was pilot. Lt. Leroy Nunn group supply officer, and Lt. James R. Blades, group public information officer.

What a stock broker can and can't do for a new investor.

If you think investing might help your family enjoy a better life, you may want to know more about stock brokers.

Q. What does a stock broker do? A. Basically, he executes your orders to buy or sell securities. He can also explain how the market functions, give you facts he may have about companies that interest you, and suggest investments you may not be familiar with.

Q. Will a broker give you advice? A. All you have to do is ask. He may not always be right, but he can often suggest opportunities you may wish to examine more closely.

Q. Are all brokers connected with the New York Stock Exchange? A. No. Only those with member firms. Each registered representative had to satisfy Exchange requirements for knowledge of the securities business at the time he was registered.

Q. How much does a broker charge? A. A member firm broker's commission is among the lowest charged for the transfer of any type of property. Example: If 100 shares are purchased for $3,000, according to the schedule now used by member firms, the charge would be $34, or about 1.1%. (When odd lots, usually less than 100 shares, are traded, the cost per share is slightly higher.)

Q. How do I find a member firm broker? A. Check your telephone directory's Yellow Pages. Or, look for an office that displays the sign "Member Firm New York Stock Exchange." There are some 3,500 member firm offices, probably one near you.

How a broker can help you start your investment program.

1. He can discuss with you how much you might invest. Remember: don't use money needed for regular living expenses or emergencies. All investments carry a certain risk.
2. He can help you choose a specific goal: Perhaps dividends for more income now. If your concern is safety of capital, you might consider bonds. Or maybe you're looking for a long-range increase in the value of your investment.
3. He can help you get information about a particular company so that you can make a more informed judgment as to its prospects.
4. He can suggest various investment possibilities among stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. There are some 1,200—among them some of the most respected names in American business.

Paul C. Jones Reports From Washington

With all of the criticism which is directed at Federal programs that do not work, and which involve the expenditure of millions of dollars, which in many cases do not produce any visible results, it is a pleasure to call attention to the expansion of one program, which has done much good throughout the rural areas of our country, and which this next year will actually result in a net decrease in expenditures from the Federal treasury, due to the fact that greater emphasis is being put upon reliance upon capital advanced by private lenders on an insured basis.

The Farmers Home Administration's loan program for fiscal 1967 are estimated at a total of $1,254 million, the highest loan level ever reached by this agency, which represents a 14 per cent increase over the loan level in 1966, and 57 per cent increase over actual loans in 1965. The 1967 loan level projected is more than three times the amount loaned by the agency in 1961. Collections of principal and interest in 1967 will also be at a record high, being more than double the amount collected in 1961.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has stated, "That to achieve the increase in lending activity we intend to expand our reliance upon capital advanced by private lenders on an insured basis. The annual authorization to make insured farm ownership loans as well as insured loans for the development of rural community water and sewer systems, was increased last year by Congress from an annual $200 million authorization to an annual $450 million authorization. The Congress also authorized the Farmers Home Administration to make rural housing loans on an insured basis."

The Secretary estimates that 60 per cent of the loan activity will be provided by private capital on an insured basis.

In 1961, insured loans represented less than seven per cent of the total loan activity. Loans for the operation, development and purchase of family farms are estimated at $535 million in 1967 compared with an estimated level of $485 million in 1966. The rural housing programs has been stepped up from $378 million in 1966 to $397 million in 1967, while financial assistance for the development of such community facilities as rural water and sewer systems and rural recreation areas is estimated at $236 million in 1967 as compared with $144 million in 1966.

Secretary Freeman explained that while the above indicates increases in projected loan levels, net expenditures from the Treasury are down substantially. This is due primarily to proposed legislation to authorize sales of participation in direct loans. This proposal applies also to some other agencies of government, and will provide a new private source of funds for financing rural credit requirements.

Your Representative has long advocated the use of a maximum amount of private credit, insured by the Federal government. Particularly do I believe that this principle can be applied to educational loans, giving a student a greater feeling of responsibility, and at the same time establishing credit with a private lending institution.

Stuart Symington Reports from Washington

THE SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION IS NOW issuing the new Medicare cards -- the first by President Johnson to former President and Mrs. Truman in Independence on January 20.

The cards being mailed out now are for those persons who have enrolled both for the basic hospital and for the doctor bill and supplementary medical insurance coverage.

Based on the latest count by the Social Security Administration, 224,000 persons in Missouri have enrolled for the doctor bill insurance, which costs $3 per month.

This is a yes response from only 54 percent of the 413,000 persons directly contacted by the Social Security district offices. At the time of that count in early January, 189,000 of the Missourians on Social Security rolls had not yet returned their sign-up cards. It is estimated there are an additional 123,000 Missourians eligible for Medicare who do not have Social Security records and therefore will not be contacted automatically. Those persons who are 65 or over who have not already enrolled should immediately contact the nearest Social Security district office.

For those who reach 65 after January 1, 1966, from three months before the birthday month through the third month after is their period for enrollment.

All persons now 65 or over are eligible to enroll now and should decide if they have not already done so. The closing date for enrollment is March 31, otherwise persons will have to wait two years and pay higher premiums.

For comparable benefits, this doctor bill insurance program would cost much less than private health insurance programs since the government pays half the premium per enrollee.

Those who have not signed up because they plan to continue with private insurance programs should ask their insurance agents for advice as to what changes are scheduled on their present insurance coverage after Medicare goes into effect.

Many letters which Senator Long and I have received recently describe the problem faced by persons who have been informed by Social Security representatives that their delayed birth certificates, issued by the Missouri Division of Health sometime later than the actual time of birth, are not sufficient proof of age. This has been the result of a ruling last November 22 by the Social Security Administration.

Senator Long and I and other members of the Missouri delegation have been working on this problem, not only because of the delay and expense to persons seeking to enroll for Medi-

What the Communist Enemy is Saying

Another broadcast that same day in Russian assured the Soviet people that unlike Korea in which "Americans managed to cover up their aggression by the blue flag of the United Nations, the war in Vietnam is purely an American war." "The United States is expanding its Asian war in near complete isolation and it is condemned by peoples the world over," President Johnson is described as:

Pulling on the toga of a peace-maker and frequently quoting from the Bible to cover up his by no means Biblical intentions. Johnson is stubbornly and malevolently pushing the United States to the brink and is subjecting the whole world to the monstrous danger. For the benefit of the arms manufacturing monopolies who are profiting from the war and war preparations, Johnson is playing with the lives of millions of young Americans. Instead of a 'Great Society' he is leading them to a great war and a great catastrophe.

In Spanish, Moscow radio warns Latin America that U.S. intervention in Santo Domingo was only part of a general anti-Communist plot on the part of care benefits, but also because this ruling has the effect of invalidating our State laws.

Attorney General Norman Anderson, and Acting Director of the Division of Health Dr. L. M. Garner, have been helpful to us in this effort to get acceptance for Missouri certificates. In the meantime, the Social Security Administrator has stated that any additional search for evidence of age on individual certificates, in order to comply with Social Security regulations, will be done by that Administration at no cost to the enrollee.

the United States to suppress national liberation and progressive movements in Latin America:

We are witnessing the beginning of another wave of anti-Communism. The apostles of this new wave are copying blindly the most brutal and discredited (word indistinct) of the Hitlerites who set fire to the Reichstag in 1933 and of the McCarthyites who in the '40's organized a shameful witch hunt in the United States.

Thus, in fomenting anti-Communist hysteria the Latin American reactionaries and their U.S. bosses are simultaneously bringing repression down on all patriotic forces.

In exacerbating anti-Communist feeling the 'gorillas', agents of the Pentagon and CIA in the countries south of the Rio Grande, are preparing the ground for all kinds of landings by U.S. Marines in accordance with the Johnson and Mann doctrines. We can say without fear of error that the anti-Communist banner in the national liberation movements is on the move. This banner has never led to victory, as is shown by Hitler's fate.

Linking U.S. anti-Communist policy with those of Hitler is a common Communist propaganda gimmick. Moscow radio adds that like Hitler, those responsible for American aggression will not go unpunished. "We here in the Soviet Union are 100 per cent behind the North Vietnamese government with regard to a peace settlement. If the need arises our government will even permit volunteers to go and fight in Vietnam on the side of our friends." (Moscow in English to North America, August 6, 2300 GMT.)

Turkey is warned in a broadcast to that country that "the country which has American bases on its territories is becoming a partner in crime of American aggression in Vietnam." For a long time the Soviet Union has been calling for the dismantling of all foreign bases on alien territories. Particularly today when the United States is foolishly pushing the world to the brink of the very dangerous abyss of thermonuclear war, the liquidation of bases is the urgent problem of the day." The Soviet broadcast then charged that the U.S. had over 2,000 bases and some one million soldiers in 90 countries "drawing a tight ring particularly around national liberation movement areas." (Meaning Communist countries and areas of Communist insurrectionary activity. K.B.)

Moscow also warned the Turks that the land, sea, and air spaces between these bases have become "very dangerous" because U.S. aircraft and ships laden with tons of deadly bombs fly through the air and ply the seas, constituting a danger to everyone else.

Fresco is a method of painting on freshly applied, wet-lime-plaster walls with colors made by grinding dry powder pigments in pure water. The colors dry and set with the plaster and become a permanent part of the wall. Among the most important series of frescoes were those painted by Michelangelo on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in the Vatican. It took four and a half years to complete.

Missouri Press Report

by Edward V. Long

A regional commission to aid economic development in the Ozarks was discussed recently in Washington, D. C. by representatives from Missouri, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

Main topic on the agenda was regional boundaries or exactly which areas should be included in the Ozark Economic Development Region.

The region was authorized in Title V of the Public Works and Economic Development Act launched by the Congress last year.

The Ozark regional commission now on the drawing boards will help coordinate economic development activity in the three states while providing technical assistance to areas and communities within the region.

Another meeting in Washington, D. C. of importance to Missouri focused on a proposal to set up Community Development Districts.

The new program would help communities to use Federal assistance more effectively.

Involving the Department of Agriculture and the new Department of Housing and Urban Development, the program would cover all aspects of rural life. Health, housing, education, and cultural activities are included. If adopted by Congress, the program will be an important step toward providing equality of economic and social opportunity for rural people.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has begun public hearings on Viet Nam. Being examined are requests totaling $450 million in economic assistance. Meanwhile, the Senate received the President's message on international education and health. The message contains proposals for an improved aid program to combat hunger and disease in less-developed countries. The new aid program will assist only those countries where the people are willing to help themselves.

Defense contracts in Missouri during January, 1966 totaled $39,997,952 according to the latest report. In addition Missouri firms won a total of $1,964,416 from non-defense Federal agencies during January.

This brings Federal contracts awarded in Missouri to a total of $361,065,390 for the seven month period beginning July, 1965.

The Prayer
For Today From
The Upper Room

"The kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who wished to settle accounts with his servants." (Matthew 18:23, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear God help us to realize that grudges and hold-over hatreds are not in keeping with the Christian faith we profess. Teach us to be guided by what is meant by the words, "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone." We pray in our Savior's name. Amen.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: All my married life I've felt like a nobody because I was "only a housewife." My husband made me feel that I should be grateful to him for putting food in my mouth and clothes on my back. Today I read something that gave me a lift. If you print it I'll bet you'll give thousands of housewives a new lease on life.

The home economics department of our state college published a leaflet in chart form. It shows what a housewife is worth per week in dollars and cents on today's labor market. Here it is:

Cooking, table setting, serving, at $2.00 an hour... $50.00
Dishwashing, at $1.25 an hour... $17.50
Child care at 50 cent an hour (ridiculous since this is what most sitters get for just sitting)... $17.50
Routine housework, at $1.25 an hour... $22.50
Laundry, at $1.25 an hour... $6.25
Ironing, at $1.25 an hour... $6.25

The chart suggests adding 25 percent for miscellaneous work. So the grand total is $150 a week. On a yearly basis a housewife is worth $7800.

Believe it or not but this leaflet has given me dignity. I no longer feel like a parasite. Tonight when Mr. Greathart comes home I'm going to greet him like a woman who earns almost $8,000 a year because that's what I am. --ASHAMED NO LONGER

Dear Ann Landers: Five years ago I had a baby girl out of wedlock. I saw her while I was in the hospital and then turned her over to an adoption agency. Since that time I married a wonderful, mature man who has a Ph.D. in education and is now teaching. We have a child and hope to have more. I have not been honest with my husband about my past, and this bothers me terribly. What's more, my feeling of guilt seems to be growing instead of diminishing. I've been considering checking with the adoption agency to learn if my daughter is happy and if she is being well taken care of. If she is not, I'm sure my husband would help me regain custody. Wouldn't this be the ideal solution? Advise me, please -- MOTHER OF TWO

Dear Mother: Ideal for whom? Surely not for the child -- or for the adoptive parents. Tell your husband the truth and get this off your conscience. And forget about trying to locate the child. A legitimate agency will not give you the information, and if you were able to get it by hook or crook, your chances of regaining custody would be zero.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a paper boy who has the usual gripe about people who owe money and don't answer the doorbell when they know I am coming to collect. But that's not what I'm writing about. I wish you'd print something about people who have nice warm homes but won't ask us in for a few minutes when we are out trying to collect.

Tonight it was below zero and I was freezing. A dozen people handed the money to me through a crack in the door and then slammed it real fast so they wouldn't let any cold air in the house. Don't they realize the paper boy is out in that cold air for hours?

One word from you could help a lot. Thanks, Ann. -- ICICLE

Theoretical Budget Estimate Published

NEW MADRID -- A theoretical budget estimate for operation of a single district school system in New Madrid county was published this week by the superintendents of the county's eight school districts.

The budget estimate is made up for the 1965-66 school year and is based on current receipts and expenditures for all the county's schools.

In an open letter written in November of last year, the superintendents proposed organization of the county's eight school districts into a single unit and the establishment of a central high school and vocational trade school.

This central school is proposed for grades 10, 11, and 12. Junior high schools and elementary schools would be operated in centers of population where needed.

The budget estimate published this week by the superintendents is programmed on a tax rate of $2.85. They have concluded that the $2.85 tax rate, coupled with a bond issue of between $500,000 and $600,000, would be sufficient for the program. The bond issue, according to the superintendents, would be carried in the tax rate of $2.85 and would require no additional levy.

This relatively low tax rate is made possible because the state will provide $50,000 in building aid for a reorganized district, and the federal government will match one half of the cost of construction and operation of vocational trade school.

Tax levies in the County vary from a low of $2.20 in one district to a high of $3 in two. Average tax levy for the County's eight districts is $2.69.

Salaries are Called Low

KANSAS CITY AP -- Although Missouri's Highway Department employees are among the highest paid in state government, their salaries are still too low, Chief Engineer M. J. Snider said today.

The reason for the higher scales, he said, is because of the larger percentage of engineers and other professional personnel.

He made the remarks in a speech prepared for the Highway Engineer's Association convention.

Competition for qualified young engineers is fierce, Snider said. Missouri has been able to offer them starting salaries of only $600 a month while other states and private industry bid substantially higher.

Recently, he said, the department tried to hire 33 young men, but got only six of them.

The Daily Sikeston Standard, Sikeston, Mo. 9
Wednesday, February 9, 1966

The department is trying to recruit new men constantly to fill positions vacated by retirement, resignation or death or to expand the force because of the expansion of the road building job.

Snider said his own salary is $19,500 a year. In private industry spending $225 million a year, as the department does, the top executive would get $100,000 or more.

But, he said, he was not complaining. He has been with the department 37 years.

The Prayer

For Today From
The Upper Room

"The kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who wished to settle accounts with his servants." (Matthew 18:23, RV)

PRAYER: Dear God help us to realize that grudges and hatreds are not in keeping with the Christian faith we profess. Teach us to be guided by what is meant by the words, "Let him who is without sin among you be the first to throw a stone." We pray in our Savior's name. Amen.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: All my married life I've felt like a nobody because I was "only a housewife." My husband made me feel that I should be grateful to him for putting food in my mouth and clothes on my back. Today I read something that gave me a lift. If you print it I'll bet you'll give thousands of housewives a new lease on life.

The home economics department of our state college published a leaflet in chart form. It shows what a housewife is worth per week in dollars and cents on today's labor market. Here it is:

Cooking, table setting, serving, at $2.00 an hour. . . $50.00

Dishwashing, at $1.25 an hour. . . $17.50

Child care at 50 cent an hour (ridiculous since this is what most sitters get for just sitting). . . $17.50

Routine housework, at $1.25 an hour. . . $22.50

Laundry, at $1.25 an hour. . . $6.25

Ironing, at $1.25 an hour. . . $6.25

The chart suggests adding 25 percent for miscellaneous work. So the grand total is $150 a week. On a yearly basis a housewife is worth $7800.

Believe it or not but this leaflet has given me dignity. I no longer feel like a parasite. Tonight when Mr. Greathart comes home I'm going to greet him like a woman who earns almost $8,000 a year because that's what I am. --ASHAMED NO LONGER

Dear Ashamed No Longer: Housewives of America, until Clip this column for your husband. And as for you, Mr. Greathart, take that -- and that -- and that.

Dear Ann Landers: Five years ago I had a baby girl out of wedlock. I saw her while I was in the hospital and then turned her over to an adoption agency. Since that time I married a wonderful, mature man who has a Ph.D. in education and is now teaching. We have a child and hope to have more. I have not been honest with my husband about my past, and this bothers me terribly. What's more, my feeling of guilt seems to be growing instead of diminishing.

I've been considering checking with the adoption agency to learn if my daughter is happy and if she is being well taken care of. If she is not, I'm sure my husband would help me regain custody. Wouldn't this be the ideal solution? Advise me, please -- MOTHER OF TWO

Dear Mother: Ideal for whom? Surely not for the child -- or for the adoptive parents. Tell your husband the truth and get this off your conscience. And forget about trying to locate the child. A legitimate agency will not give you the information, and if you were able to get it by hook or crook, your chances of regaining custody would be zero.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a paper boy who has the usual gripe about people who owe money and don't answer the doorbell when they know I am coming to collect. But that's not what I'm writing about.

I wish you'd print something about people who have nice warm homes but won't ask us in for a few minutes when we are out trying to collect.

Tonight it was below zero and I was freezing. A dozen people handed the money to me through a crack in the door and then slammed it real fast so they wouldn't let any cold air in the house. Don't they realize the paper boy is out in that cold air for hours?

One word from you could help a lot. Thanks, Ann. -- ICICLE IKE

Dear Readers Who Live Where It's Cold: For heaven's sake folks, please invite the paper boy in to thaw out on those freezing nights when he comes to collect. (There, son, I said 22 words and I hope it helps.)

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry -- Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Obedience to truth known, is the king's highway to that which is still beyond us. --Aeschylus

Theoretical Budget Estimate Published

NEW MADRID -- A theoretical budget estimate for operation of a single district school system in New Madrid county was published this week by the superintendents of the county's eight school districts.

The budget estimate is made up for the 1965-66 school year and is based on current receipts and expenditures for all the county's schools.

In an open letter written in November of last year, the superintendents proposed organization of the county's eight school districts into a single unit and the establishment of a central high school and vocational trade school.

This central school is proposed for grades 10, 11, and 12 only. Junior high schools and elementary schools would be operated in centers of population where needed.

Salaries are Called Low

KANSAS CITY AP -- Although Missouri's Highway Department employees are among the highest paid in state government, their salaries are still too low, Chief Engineer M. J. Snider said today.

The reason for the higher scales, he said, is because of the larger percentage of engineers and other professional personnel.

He made the remarks in a speech prepared for the Highway Engineers' Association convention.

Competition for qualified young engineers is fierce, Snider said. Missouri has been able to offer them starting salaries of only $600 a month while other states and private industry bid substantially higher.

Recently, he said, the department tried to hire 33 young men, but got only six of them.

The Daily Sikeston Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Wednesday, February 9, 1966 9

The department is trying to recruit new men constantly to fill positions vacated by retirement, resignation or death or to expand the force because of the expansion of the road building job.
Snider said his own salary is $19,500 a year. In private industry spending $225 million a year, as the department does, the top executive would get $100,000 or more.
But, he said, he was not complaining. He has been with the department 37 years.

Executive Praises Boy Scout Leaders

District Scout Executive Richard C. Ray, Cape Girardeau, sends word of appreciation to the Boy Scout leaders of the Okeechobee district, in commemoration of the 56th anniversary of the founding of Scouting, Feb. 6-12.

His message to the leaders of the three county district, Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi is as follows:

"The Okeechobee District of the Southeast Missouri Council, Boy Scouts of America, wishes to take this opportunity to express their deepest appreciation for the time, energy and money that the Unit Leaders of our District have given to Scouting. Without these men Scouting would not exist. With these men Scouting is being lived in the hearts of 1,345 boys in the three county area known as the Okeechobee district - (Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi). These boys are receiving the benefits of Scouting because our unit leaders and the many other volunteer scouters care about their future. The future of this community and Nation is today, in the manner in which we train our youth. By following the Scout Oath and the Scout Law boys set a high standard for themselves and are being developed into the kind of citizen our country needs.

"When they reach manhood they will be able to step forward unflinchingly, take their place with their country's finest, and say with them: 'AMERICA! Here I stand! My body strong to fight your battles!'

"My mind trained to keep your democracy virtile!

"My spirit true to uphold your ideals!

"To God and to you I pledge my service!

"On My Honor, I Will Do My Best!

"God grant that we may continue to find more men willing to serve as unit leaders, so that scouting can reach the hearts and minds of more boys. You can't put scouting into a boy until you put the boy into Scouting.

"Hats off to these community minded citizens, the Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, and Explorer Advisors, for their understanding contribution to the future of our communities."

Among the leaders are: Frank Reinhart, Cubmaster of pack 53, Matthews, sponsored by the Matthews PTA. Serving with Reinhart are the following Den Mothers of Pack 53: Mrs. Ann June Roberts, Mrs. Olene Yarbrough, Mrs. Donnie Burch, Mrs. Patsy J. Hunt, and Mrs.

Mental Health On Move, Says Governor

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes spelled out today a comprehensive, continuing and statewide mental health program for Missouri.

"Mental health today does not rest in dead centers in Missouri -- it is on the move," he said in a speech prepared for the Iowa Association for Mental Health. Hearnes said he was proud that the new intensive treatment center at Columbia was the first in the nation to receive federal matching funds. But he said he was more concerned at the center's role in the years to come. "With the centers also now under construction in Kansas City and St. Louis," he said, "it will have several functions. First, it will be a prototype for smaller comprehensive community mental health centers which we envision as satellite units in outstate rural areas.

"Each of these three comprehensive community mental health centers will be responsible for supply services never before available to the third of Missouri in which it is located -- east, central and west.

"An important job for each center will be to train psychiatric personnel for such programs as our residency careers training program for psychiatrists in which these people during their service obligation period will be 'on loan' availability to local communities."

The goal, he said, is continuity of mental health service on a local, 24-hour basis, working with families and family doctors.

"More training and more research should and must take place at Missouri's seven large custodial mental hospitals in conjunction with our nine new mental retardation clinics," he said.

Hearnes envisioned the time when Missouri and Iowa could work together to solve their mental health problems, sharing knowledge and research and perhaps exchanging students, teachers and professional people.

He put Missouri's program into focus like this:

"Former programs forced patients into the unbending molds of institutions. Our program in Missouri is being tailored to meet the needs of the patient as an individual and to be flexible and adaptable to the fluctuations of his or her illness."

Gordon Weiss, executive director of the Missouri Association for Mental Health, accompanied the governor to Cedar Rapids.

Earthworms Short In Urban Tokyo

TOKYO AP -- There's a shortage of earthworms in Tokyo. Spreading urbanization is responsible, bait shop owners say.

Anglers are lamenting the fact that a tumbler of earthworms for bait now costs about 14 cents -- 10 times the price of 10 years ago.

Executive Praises Boy Scout Leaders

District Scout Executive Richard C. Ray, Cape Girardeau, sends word of appreciation to the Boy Scout leaders of the Okeechobee district, in commemoration of the 56th anniversary of the founding of Scouting, Feb. 6-12.

His message to the leaders of the three county district, Scott, New Madrid and Mississippi is as follows:

"The Okeechobee District of the Southeast Missouri Council, Boy Scouts of America, wishes to take this opportunity to express their deepest appreciation for the time, energy and money that the Unit Leaders of our District have given to Scouting. Without these men Scouting would not exist. With these men Scouting is being lived in the hearts of 1,345 boys in the three county area known as the Okeechobee district - (Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi). These boys are receiving the benefits of Scouting because our unit leaders and the many other volunteer scouters care about their future. The future of this community and nation is today, in the manner in which we train our youth. By following the Scout Oath and the Scout Law boys set a high standard for themselves and are being developed into the kind of citizen our country needs.

"When they reach manhood they will be able to step forward unflinchingly, take their place with their country's finest, and say with them:

"AMERICA! Here I stand!

"My body strong to fight your battles!

"My mind trained to keep your democracy viable!

"My spirit true to uphold your ideals!"

"To God and to you I pledge my service:

"On My Honor, I Will Do My Best."

"God grant that we may continue to find more men willing to serve as unit leaders, so that scouting can reach the hearts and minds of more boys. You can't put scouting into a boy until you put the boy into Scouting.

"Hats off to these community minded citizens, the Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, and Explorer Advisors, for their understanding contribution to the future of our communities."

Among the leaders are:

Frank Reinhart, Cubmaster of pack 53, Matthews, sponsored by the Matthews PTA. Serving with Reinhart are the following: Den Mothers of Pack 53; Mrs. Ann June Roberts, Mrs. Olene Yarbrough, Mrs. Donnie Burch, Mrs. Patsy J. Hunt, and Mrs.

Mental Health On Move, Says Governor

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes spelled out today a comprehensive, continuing and statewide mental health program for Missouri.

"Mental health today does not rest in dead center in Missouri -- it is on the move," he said in a speech prepared for the Iowa Association for Mental Health. Hearnes said he was proud that the new intensive treatment center at Columbia was the first in the nation to receive federal matching funds. But he said he was more concerned at the center's role in the years to come. "With the centers also now under construction in Kansas City and St. Louis," he said, "it will have several functions. First, it will be a prototype for smaller comprehensive community mental health centers which we envision as satellite units in outstate rural areas."

"Each of these three comprehensive community mental health centers will be responsible for supply services never before available to the third of Missouri in which it is located -- east, central and west. "An important job for each center will be to train psychiatric personnel for such programs as our residency careers training program for psychiatrists in which these people during their service obligation period will be 'on loan' availability to local communities."

The goal, he said, is continuity of mental health service on a local, 24-hour basis, working with families and family doctors.

"More training and more research should and must take place at Missouri's seven large custodial mental hospitals in conjunction with our nine new mental retardation clinics," he said.

Hearnes envisioned the time when Missouri and Iowa could work together to solve their mental health problems, sharing knowledge and research and perhaps exchanging students, teachers and professional people.

He put Missouri's program into focus like this:

"Former programs forced patients into the unbending molds of institutions. Our program in Missouri is being tailored to meet the needs of the patient as an individual and to be flexible and adaptable to the fluctuations of his or her illness."

Gordon Weis, executive director of the Missouri Association for Mental Health, accompanied the governor to Cedar Rapids.

Earthworms Short In Urban Tokyo

TOKYO AP -- There's a shortage of earthworms in Tokyo. Spreading urbanization is responsible, bait shop owners say.

Anglers are lamenting the fact that a thimble of earthworms for bait now costs about 14 cents -- 10 times the price of 10 years ago.

Swimming Pool Campaign Launched

DEXTER -- The Junior Chamber of Commerce has launched a campaign to obtain a swimming pool.

The project has been in the planning stage for more than a year and was delayed for several months during the recent hospital fund drive here.

But now a campaign to provide swimming facilities for the community is being undertaken by the Jaycees.

First step in the project came Friday night of last week when members of the Jaycees met with the Dexter City Council, Mayor Melvin Gainer, members of the Dexter Park Board and other interested persons here.

Gary Dowdy and Bill Swinger are serving as co-chairmen of the event and outlined their tentative plans to the city officials at Friday night's session. No definite plans have been formulated as yet, but the possibility of federal participation in the project is being seriously considered, members of the Jaycee organization said.

The group had previously met with Tom F. Baker, Stoddard county representative, who had encouraged them to undertake the project and to seek federal participation under the land and water conservation program of the federal government. A grant-in-aid is a possibility under this plan, Baker told the Jaycees, who related this information to the city officials Friday night.

Complete plans for a large swimming pool have already been drawn and prepared for the Jaycees by a professional pool - construction firm. The group, including Dowdy, Swinger, President Bob Robbins and others, have also worked closely with State Division of Health officials on the project. All proposals for a public swimming pool must have health department approval, it was pointed out.

Members of the Jaycees have also visited other new public swimming pools in Missouri

COMMUNIST'S TESTING

It may well be that Peking and Moscow are engaging the U.S. in a terrifying war of nerves, that they are merely attempting to see how far they can push Lyndon B. Johnson in the hope he will back down and withdraw American forces from Viet Nam.

Tragically, the Communists have been encouraged in this belief by the five years the U.S. has spent practicing what many military experts deem to be de facto unilateral disarmament in failing to get many follow-on weapons and defense systems off the drawing boards and into production. They are further encouraged today by a "teach-in" movement demanding massive civil disobedience against the Administration's affirmative foreign policies, a move-and-Hanoi prefer to believe represents a prevailing trend in America and in the West.

Whether the Communist rulers have accurately gauged this trend will probably be determined within the next few months. Meanwhile, their minions in the U.S. will do everything possible to help. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover revealed in June that the last April 17 Easter peace march on Washington was "encouraged and endorsed" by Communists and heavily infiltrated with "Communist marchers from all over the country."

Director Hoover warned that "Communist leaders are striving to initiate other marches and demonstrations to keep their campaign of fear and terror rolling." He added

Robertson on Bank Group

ST. LOUIS -- On March 8, 1967, the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis will have been in operation 50 years.

Preparations for a year of recognition have begun. A meeting has been held to make plans to launch the celebration.

The objective will be to pay tribute to the American farmer. The land bank system has made its contribution to the effort of American agriculture over the past 50 years by pioneering the long-term, amortized farm mortgage.

In 1965 the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis closed 5,636 long term farm loans for $83,381,563. The Federal Land Bank Association of Sikeston, closed 133 loans for $2,606,231. Ralph Nowlan, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, has appointed a golden anniversary celebration committee composed of Tom Porter, vice president and treasurer; Hazen Whalen, regional manager; Wallace B. Hobson, manager of the Jonesboro, Ark. association Land Bank; Joe Frieze, vice president of the Land Bank in St. Louis; Hal F. Robertson, manager of the land bank association in Sikeston and Harry Muentner, manager of the land bank association in Hillsboro, Ill.

The Sikeston association serves Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi, Stoddard and Cape Girardeau counties.

Directors of the Sikeston association are: Hutson L. Goza of Essex, Vincent Dieringer of Oran, Dale Geske of Matthews, Howard Schneider of Charleston, and Charles N. Meier of Jackson.

casualties -- including nearly 54,000 dead -- were suffered after we began the peace talks with the Communists at Panmunjom. Moreover, of the nearly 20,000 Americans captured by the Communists in that conflict, only 4,910 were ever returned. Most of the rest died or were murdered by their captors while we negotiated. The substitute America found for victory in Korea was the sacrifice of thousands of its own citizens -- and an uneasy truce which directly paved the way for future Communist aggression in Viet Nam.

BOOKLET ON WHAT EVERY HOMEOWNER SHOULD KNOW ABOUT HIS PLUMBING. Every homeowner should know how to make simple repairs on his home plumbing. He should know how to take proper care of his plumbing to keep it in top working order and to keep necessary repairs to a minimum. Finally, he should know where to draw the line at home-repair projects and call for the services of a qualified plumbing contractor. An information-packed booklet on these vital home plumbing factors is available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, located at 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60601. The booklet is entitled "Plumbing Care & Repair."

Like Gertrude Stein's repetitious rose, a tub is a tub is a tub -- right?

Wrong! Bathtubs come in many shapes, sizes and colors, with varied built-in conveniences. Here are some examples from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau:

Take height. If you like to lie in the tub to read and soak, you need a deep tub -- one that's 16 inches high. As a soaker, you probably want a long tub too, in which you can stretch out. You can get one up to 5 1/2 or 6 feet long.

But suppose you have a troublesome back and are timid about stepping into and out of a deep tub. Then the 12-inch high model is the one for you.

Bathtubs also come with built-in seats, corner seats (handy to the water controls) and wide ledges that can serve as seats or for placements of articles. Many of the newer models have special built-in ridges on the bottom to reduce slippiness. The curved inner surfaces are being eliminated too, to lessen the danger of falling.

Also available are small "receptor" tubs for use with showers. These showers and receptor tubs, enclosed in stalls, can be installed in spaces too small for conventional bathroom. Many come with seats so that the person taking a shower can sit and luxuriate beneath the downpour.

MODERN MATH 2

Things Come in Sets

By Prof. W. F. Lloyd
University of Tampa

I can think of no facet in Modern Mathematics better suited to lead off this series than the set concept. It is so fundamental to human thinking that mankind probably developed it before developing the number concept. Certainly the young child thinks in sets before he begins to think in numbers.

A set is simply a group or collection of things that belong together.

Primitive man recognized that food, warmth, a dry place to live, and some women were pleasant. These constituted a set of good things. Hunger, cold, dampness, and some women made up a set of bad things.

Now, picture yourself at a beach watching a bathing beauty contest. You find the beach crowded with beautiful girls. Some are entered in the contest, some are not, but each is an element of the set of girls on the beach.

At a signal from the judges, the contestants line up for the judging and the other girls recline on the sand. Now I can sneak in a definition. The contestants form a subset of the set of girls on the beach. The reclining beauties form another subset of the original set.

A subset is simply a set whose elements are also elements of a larger set called the universal set.

All the girls form the universal set and the other sets are drawn from these. For example, a set of blondes, one of redheads, and another of beauties in bikinis.

There are two specially defined subsets. Since all the girls were beautiful, if you were to form a subset of beautiful girls from the universal set you would have to include all of the girls, making two sets composed of the same number of identical elements. Thus we define every set as a subset of itself.

If you were to form a subset of girls wearing knee length bathing suits, you would not have a single girl to put in this set. Such a set, with no elements, is defined as an empty set or the null set. Every set has a null set as a subset.

Not Like Arithmetic

The operations with sets are not the familiar arithmetic operations of addition, multiplication, and division. Set operations have new names and new definitions. When an arithmetic operation was performed on two numbers the answer was a number; likewise when a mathematical operation is performed on two sets the answer is a set.

For instance, suppose we name the set of blondes as set B and the set of contestants as set C. (Capital letters are commonly used as names for sets.)

The Union of these two sets will be a third set consisting of all the girls that are elements of at least one of the two given sets. Thus the union of set B and set C written BUC is the set consisting of all of the contestants plus the blondes that are not contestants.

The Intersection of two sets is a third set whose elements are elements of both given sets. Thus the intersection of set B and set C written BOC is the set consisting solely of those contestants that are blonde.

The intersection of two sets cannot have a greater number of elements than the smaller set.

The Complement of a set is another set consisting of those elements of the Universal set that are not elements of the given set. Thus the complement of set B, written B' (mathematicians have not come to agreement on this symbol as yet) is the set of all the girls on the beach that are not blonde. C is the set consisting of all of the girls that are not entered in the contest. Thus BOC would be the set of blondes that are not contestants.

The child in the primary grades is introduced to sets with pictures of familiar objects such as birds, dogs, and bunnies.

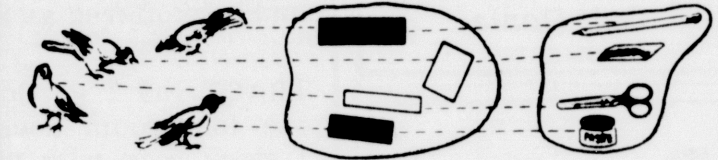

Drill Is Emphasized

The first operation taken up is one-to-one matching. In this operation the child draws a line from a picture in one set to a picture in another set.

This introduces the idea of equivalent sets. Non-equivalent sets and the concept of order, is next introduced by having sets with a different number of pictures in each so that there will be at least one picture left over when the matching has been completed. Such sets are not equivalent and the set containing the left-over picture is called the larger set, the set that has been used up is the smaller set.

Number Four and Numeral 4

Show a one-to-one matching.

Write the number word.

Swimming Pool Campaign Launched

DEXTER -- The Junior Chamber of Commerce has launched a campaign to obtain a swimming pool.

The project has been in the planning stage for more than a year and was delayed for several months during the recent hospital fund drive here.

But now a campaign to provide swimming facilities for the community is being undertaken by the Jaycees.

First step in the project came Friday night of last week when members of the Jaycees met with the Dexter City Council, Mayor Melvin Gainer, members of the Dexter Park Board and other interested persons here.

Gary Dowdy and Bill Swinger are serving as co-chairmen of the event and outlined their tentative plans to the city officials at Friday night's session. No definite plans have been formulated as yet, but the possibility of federal participation in the project is being seriously considered, members of the Jaycee organization said.

The group had previously met with Tom F. Baker, Stoddard county representative, who had encouraged them to undertake the project and to seek federal participation under the land and water conservation program of the federal government. A grant-in-aid is a possibility under this plan, Baker told the Jaycees, who related this information to the city officials Friday night.

Complete plans for a large swimming pool have already been drawn and prepared for the Jaycees by a professional pool - construction firm. The group, including Dowdy, Swinger, President Bob Robins and others, have also worked closely with State Division of Health officials on the project. All proposals for a public swimming pool must have health department approval, it was pointed out.

Members of the Jaycees have also visited other new public swimming pools in Missouri

COMMUNIST'S TESTING

It may well be that Peiping and Moscow are engaging the U.S. in a terrifying war of nerves, that they are merely attempting to see how far they can push Lyndon B. Johnson in the hope he will back down and withdraw American forces from Viet Nam.

Tragically, the Communists have been encouraged in this belief by the five years the U.S. has spent practicing what many military experts deem to be de facto unilateral disarmament in failing to get many follow-on weapons and defense systems off the drawing boards and into production. They are further encouraged today by a "teach-in" movement demanding massive civil disobedience against the Administration's affirmative foreign policies, a move, and Hanoi prefer to believe represents a prevailing trend in America and in the West.

Whether the Communist rulers have accurately gauged this trend will probably be determined within the next few months. Meanwhile, their minions in the U.S. will do everything possible to help.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover revealed in June that the last April 17 Easter peace march on Washington was "encouraged and endorsed" by Communists and heavily infiltrated with "Communist marchers from all over the country." Director Hoover warned that "Communist leaders are striving to initiate other marches and demonstrations to keep their campaign of fear and terror rolling." He added

ST. LOUIS -- On March 8, 1967, the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis will have been in operation 50 years.

Preparations for a year of recognition have begun. A meeting has been held to make plans to launch the celebration.

The objective will be to pay tribute to the American farmer. The land bank system has made its contribution to the effort of American agriculture over the past 50 years by pioneering the long-term, amortized farm mortgage.

In 1965 the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis closed 5,636 long term farm loans for $83,381,563.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Sikeston, closed 133 loans for $2,606,231. Ralph Nowlan, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, has appointed a golden anniversary celebration committee composed of Tom Porter, vice president and treasurer; Hazen Whalen, regional manager; Wallace B. Hobson, manager of the Jonesboro, Ark. association; Land Bank; Joe Frieze, vice president of the Land Bank in St. Louis; Hal F. Robertson, manager of the land bank association in Sikeston and Harry Muentner, manager of the land bank association in Hillsboro, Ill.

Directors of the Sikeston association are: Hutson L. Goza of Essex, Vincent Dirnberger of Oran, Dale Geske of Matthews, Howard Schneider of Charleston, and Charles N. Meier of Jackson.

Every homeowner should know how to make simple repairs on his home plumbing. He should know how to take proper care of his plumbing to keep it in top working order and to keep necessary repairs to a minimum. Like Gertrude Stein's repetitious rose, a tub is a tub is a tub -- right? Wrong! Bathtubs come in many shapes, sizes and colors, with varied built-in conveniences. Here are some examples from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau:

Take height. If you like to lie in the tub to read and soak, you need a deep tub -- one that's 16 inches high. As a soaker, you probably want a stretch out. You can get one up to 5 1/2 or 6 feet long.

But suppose you have a troublesome back and are timid about stepping into and out of a deep tub. Then the 12-inch high model is the one for you.

Bathtubs also come with built-in seats, corner seats (handy to the water controls) and wide ledges that can serve as seats or for placements of articles. Many of the newer models have special built-in ridges on the bottom to reduce slipperness. The curved inner surfaces are being eliminated too, to lessen the danger of falling.

Also available are small "receptor" tubs for use with showers. These showers and receptor tubs, enclosed in stalls, can be installed in spaces too small for conventional bathroom. Many come with seats so that the person taking a shower can sit and luxuriate beneath the downpour.

The case was presented to the grand jury in Shelby county, Tennessee, on October 29, 1959. The grand jury indicted Betty Lou Sells on second degree murder. Mr. Montgomery, after a complete two weeks investigation, was not presented to the grand jury. Some time in the fall of 1960, the case of Betty Lou Sells went to trial, and, after several days of trial, the jury convicted Mrs. Betty Lou Sells of involuntary manslaughter and gave her punishment not to exceed three (3) years in the penitentiary. The case was appealed with the results noted above.

"Mr. Black pointed out in his statement that 'everybody sued Mr. Montgomery. The passengers in his own car, and the other people sued Mr. Montgomery. . . . The case of the Gassaway lady was tried in the federal court. She introduced as her witness, Miss Bobbie Vance, who was sitting on the right of Mr. Montgomery. Now, Miss Bobbie Vance did not testify before the grand jury, but they (?) said in her preliminary deposition that Mr. Montgomery told Betty Lou Sells to 'run this light, and run them all.' I emphasize that; that she said that Joel Montgomery told Betty Lou Sells to 'run this light at Monroe and Wellington, and run them all.' As a result of that testimony, which was taken before the Honorable Judge Sam Campbell. . . he called upon the attorney general. . . and urged him to convene the grand jury with a view of adding another person's name to the indictment, namely, Joel A. Montgomery."

Now, Miss Bobbie Vance did not testify before the grand jury, but they (?) said in her preliminary deposition that Mr. Montgomery told Betty Lou Sells to 'run this light, and run them all.' I emphasize that; that she said that Joel Montgomery told Betty Lou Sells to 'run this light at Monroe and Wellington, and run them all.' As a result of that testimony, which was taken before the Honorable Judge Sam Campbell. . . he called upon the attorney general . . . and urged him to convene the grand jury with a view of adding another person's name to the indictment, namely, Joel A. Montgomery."

Today In U. S. History

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1966. There are 325 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1799, Capt. Thomas Truxtun, commanding the new American frigate Constitution, bore down on the French L'Insurgente, called the fastest ship in the French navy. Truxtun poured on a full broadside of 24 heavy guns at once; soon the tri-color was pulled down -- the new American ship had proved itself the best.

In 1773, William Henry Harrison, the ninth president, was born.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis was elected provisional president of the Confederate States of America.

In 1874, American poet Amy Lowell was born.

In 1942, the French liner Normandie burned and capsized at a New York pier while being prepared for wartime service as the USS Lafayette.

In 1945, American troops crossed the Pasig River to clean out Japanese holding the old walled section of Manila.

Ten years ago -- Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sought a federal court order directing the University of Alabama to reinstate Autherine Lucy.

Five years ago -- President John F. Kennedy proposed a federal health insurance program to provide medical care for the aged.

One year ago -- A Communist student mob stormed the U. S. Embassy in Moscow in protest against American Viet Nam policy.

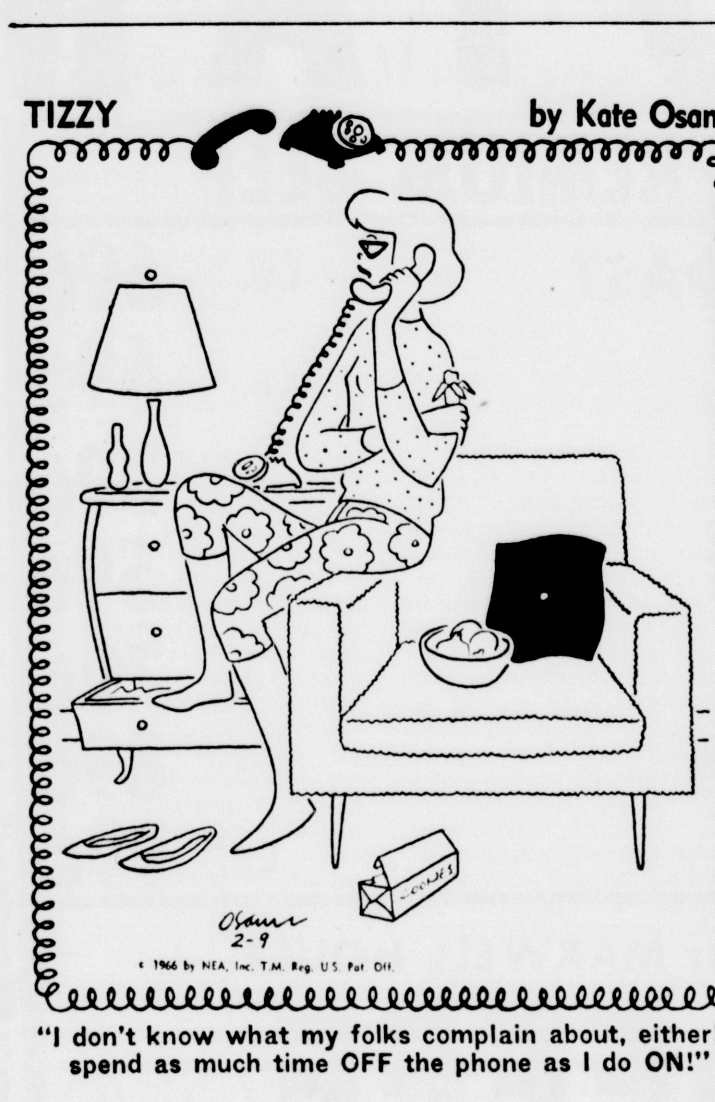

Curare, used by some American Indians to poison the tips of their arrows, is of great medical value and is most widely used in general inhalation anesthesia, especially in abdominal surgery. It is also used in treatments of mental disorders. It is administered either through the muscles or the veins.

Curare, used by some American Indians to poison the tips of their arrows, is of great medical value and is most widely used in general inhalation anesthesia, especially in abdominal surgery. It is also used in treatments of mental disorders. It is administered either through the muscles or the veins.
